the Bolivian Minister in Lima for reparation from Peru for injuries inflicted on Bolivia during the late revolution in Peru; that the Bolivian Minister had been given his passport; that the later had taken refuge on a British man-of-war, and that finally he had been assassinated.

The circulation of these erroneous statements caused great excitement among some of the young men of La Paz, who went in a mob to a building occupied by the Peruvian Consul-General, Victor Benides, stoned the building, broke down, carried away and destroyed the consular shield, broke all the windows and used insulting language. They also stoned the house of Angel del Solar, just appointed Consul-General, but not officially recognized; broke in the windows of the Peruvian Club and other houses, stores and business places of nearly all the Peruvian residents of La Paz, and then subsided.

Moonlight adds that the press of La Paz and all of the law-abiding citizens condemn the proceedings. He also says: "We can obtain here no further news from Lima nor from Sucre, so we are in the dark as to the future between Bolivia and Peru, but I am inclined to believe that there will be a friendly settlement of difficulties soon." Cabled dispatches have recently reported a settlement of the affair.

CHICAGO, Aug. 26.—The Harvey prohibition war was enlivened by a physical encounter last night. A crowd of prohibition evangelists entered the saloon of Billy McLatchen, ex-prize-fightter. The prohibitionists escaped, and after they had all got out, one of their number, a butcher named Crandall, engaged the saloonist in a fight, and received severe cuts and contusions on the head.

be an American eagle. Further search revealed gold and silver coin to the value of $60. Fearing that the coin might be counterfeit, Mears visited Cincinnati and had the coin examined, and it was good.

On Mears's return he found that his partner and all the members of both families had taken shovels, scoops, pans and all available implements and dug trenches in the sand in all directions, finally uncovering two iron-bound boxes, which contained in all over $20,000. The coins are all dated from 1825 to 1833, and it is supposed that the money was buried by river pirates, who infested the Ohio River many years ago.

Worthless Natives Graft Them selves Onto the Missions as Interpreters—Young Girls Kid-naped and Sold.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)
CHICAGO, Aug. 26.—Sam Moy, a prominent Chinese merchant of Chicago, has received a paper concerning the attack upon the English and American missionaries. According to the Chinese paper no decent Chinaman will have anything to do with a mission. The missionaries cannot talk the language. The Chinese in the interior who can talk "pigeon." or any foreign language, are almost always young men who have are almost always young men who have run away to avoid punishment for petty crimes or to shirk the support of their families, going to some treaty port in-stead of to the mountains as the fugi-tives from justice for more serious crimes do. In time the petty crime is forgotten or compounded, and the fel-low comes back, but is regarded as a social unitary and does not find or want social outlaw, and does not find or want to find anything to do in the way of work more than enough to keep him an easy life. He becomes a member of the missionary staff and household. The missionary wants converts; the hanger-on some luxuries. There are only two ways to get converts in China. One is to hire them; then you have converts just as long as they are paid. The other is by buying or kidnaping children and keeping and teaching them. Hiring converts and buying them. Hiring converts and buying children are expensive, but the better class of missionaries, well supplied with money, who understand the Chinese usages, here and buy, and show results. Good missionaries do not allow any kidnaping, but most of the missionaries, while good people themselves, do not know how bad their native staff, in. tive staff is. It is the native staff, un-der the lead of the tough interpreter which does the kidnaping, and the mis-der the lead of the tough interpreter, which does the kidnaping, and the missionaries are fooled.

This is the way it is done: One of the interpreters sees a child, a girl, 10 or 12 years of age, and finds out she is not well watched and cared for; that her parents are poor or careless people, not likely to make much of a fuss at her disappearance He inveigles the child into a visit to the mission and often force is used. The missionary sees the child and is told some "fairy tale" by the unscrupulous interpreter, that the child wishes to become a Christian; that she wants to live at the mission and be instructed or some other invention which seems plausible to the ignorance and zeal of the missionary and something is added to show the importance of guarding the new candidate from recapture by the heathen relatives, who, the missionary is assured, would do so to prevent the perversion of the child's faith.

As the missionary cannot talk to the child he trusts his interpreter who can, and the child, well, the less the original is followed there the better. The inter-

As the missionary cannot talk to the child he trusts his interpreter who can, and the child, well, the less the original is followed there the better. The interpreter practically gets the girl. She is his slave for the time being and he plays the missionary to keep safely out of sight until he can sell her and get the money for her. Then the missionary is fooled again, and the process is repeated as frequently as possible. It is a great industry for the unscrupulous interpreters who live better have more pleasure and make more money with less work under the protection of the mission than most of the good people of their town.

The burning of the missions freed some of the girl captives who told the stories of their kidnaping, confinement and the indignities to which they were subjected. The stories spread and aroused the ferocity of all good people. This started the great riot and the mob attacked the missionaries and interpreters indiscriminately.

The best people did not accuse the missionaries of any intentional wrong and would not have harmed them, intending only to send them away, so they could no longer be induced by the wicked interpreters to help them in kidnaping defenseless young girls. All agreed it was right to kill the hangers-on guilty of the kidnaping, because it is the law and the custom that anyone may do so in China. The Governor of Fokien sent 1000 soldiers up the Min River to quell the riots and restore order, but the bandits joined with the rabble and whipped the soldiers. The soldiers lost half their number and had to retreat.

At the time the paper was printed it was said that the whole section was in control of the mob and there was great fear that elsewhere, where the people hear of the state of affairs at Ku-Chang there will be great trouble for the missionaries. The foregoing is a free translation, not literal, but much shhrevi.

A CONGREGATIONAL COMMISSION.

CHICAGO, Aug. 26.—The commission appointed by the American Congregational Missionary Board to go to Japan to look into the condition of its missions in that country, will leave the early part of next week. The members of the commission are the Rev. James Gibson Johnson of this city, the Rev. A. H. Bradford of Montelair, N. J.; William P. Ellison of Boston and the Rev. J. L. Barton, secretary of the missionary board. The other members of the commission will meet Dr. Johnson in this city, whence the party will go direct to San Francisco, where they will take ship for Yokohama. They will be absent three months or more.

The work of the commission, it is said by persons who are acquainted with its duties, will be one of the most important things in missionary effort for many years. The missionary situation in Japan has of late greatly changed, and the American Congregational Board feels that it is necessary to ascertain whether the character and extent CONGREGATIONAL COMMISSION of its work in that city should be changed. This is the task devolving on the commission. It is expected that other missionary boards in this country and England will base their future course on the report of the commissioners, massacres of missionaries and converts have occurred in China and it is not unlikely they will be sent to the country to investigate the situation after finishing their work in Japan.

Seven have suckling colts and fillies, and the young sters will have to be weaned before their dams can be sent across the water. All will be ready within two weeks.

As the mares are all from the richest producing lines of England and America, and cost Lorillard more than $75. 000 he must have obtained at least that amount for them, as it was generally known that he was not anxious to sell. Seven of the mares sold are by Mortimer, a French Stallion, while the other nine represent sturdy English and American stock. It is Vanderbilt's intention to breed mares to French stock "Vanderbilt is sick of the scanda

"Lorillard's reason for selling his mares is that he contemplates a turtcampaign in England next season and does not care to be bothered with the American breeding establishment, which has grown to be too cumbersome. The mares were not a great success at Rancocas, for although Lorillard spent over $1,000,000 he was never able to ob-tain those two essential things, good grass and good water."

County Jail No Protection for the Wretches - Plans Carefully Arranged-One of the Victims Pleads for His Life.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.) YREKA, Aug. 26.—As a ghastly cli-max of the reign of lawlesness which has prevailed in Siskiyou county for many months past, the bodies of four accused murderers lay this morning on the floor of the fire-engine house in the old mining town of Yreka was evident that Judge Lynch and his jurors had been at work during the night, and their verdict was "death by hanging" to four miserable wretches in the county jail.

The victims are Lawrence Johnson who on July 28 stabbed his wife to death in the town of Etna; William Null, who shot Henry Harter in the back near Callahans on April 21; Louis Moreno and Charles Semler, who are supposed to have killed George Sears supposed to have killed George Sears and Casper Meirehaus at Bailey Hill on August 5.

About 9 o'clock a straggler now and then caught the glimpse of dark objects hanging around the suburbs of the town, but nothing was thought of it. The dark objects thickened until along toward midnight they assumed the shape of silent and stern men, either on horseback or afoot. At midnight a pre-arranged plan or signal night a pre-arranged plan or signa drew a small army of some two hundred drew a small army of some two hundred and fifty men into the vicinity of Court-house square, while sentinels were placed throughout the town to ward off danger of discovery by the officers. The fire-bells were tied up, night watch-men sent to other parts of the town on sham errands and stragglers were detained.

on sham errands and stragglers were detained.

At 1 o'clock the midnight avengers prepared to carry out their plans. An old rail was taken from the depot and placed between two trees in Courthouse Park, and then began the descent upon the jail. A demand was made upon Deputy Sheriff Radford for the keys, but he did not yield. Henry Bratlauch, who was sleeping in the jail, heard the commotion, and opened the door to see what the trouble was, and was at once seized by the mob. The iron dors were then forced open, and Johnson, Null, Semler and Moreno were marched out to the courtyard. The condemned men were stolid and took their fate without a murmur, with the exception of young Semler, who begged piteously for mercy. His age was 19.

The scene was, indeed, a heart-rend-The scene was, indeed, a heart-rending one, as young Semler broke forth in an agonizing appeal, and cried out: "Tell my dear old mother I am innocent of the crime." Sheriff Hobbs had given strict orders that in case any attempt at lynching was made to ring the fire bells and rouse the citizens, but the mob had anticipated this, and laid their plans well. Every person about the streets in the vicinity of the jail was stopped.

their plans well. Every person about the streets in the vicinity of the jail was stopped.

S. F. Mills and Sam Roop were going to the house of the latter's mother, and were held at the scene of the hanging.

Nearly every section of the country was represented in the mob. In fact, ever since Null's cold-blooded murder of Henry Harter lynching was freely talked of in the western end of the county, and when Johnson killed his wife the avenging sentiment kept on fermenting. After the Bailey Hill murder the feeling reached a dangerous stage. During the lynching some one awoke Sheriff Hobbs, who hurried down town, and as he was going through the courthouse a Winchester was stuck in his face and he was. The whole affair was carefully arranged and well executed, and not over twenty minutes elapsed from the time the keys were surrendered until the mob rode swiftly out of town.

The lynching can in no way reflect upon the officers of the court. The information in the Null case was filed on May 22 and under his plea of innocence the law gave him the right to send wherever necessary to secure depositions in support of his defense, which could not be done in less time than allowed by the court. This was the only one of the four cases which was at issue before the Superior Court. In the case of Johnson there was a demurrer to the information which was to be argued this week. The other prisoners, Stemler and Moreno, were to have had their preliminary examinations tomorrow, it having been necessary to postpone them to that date in order to the court.

preliminary examinations tomorrow, it having been necessary to postpone them to that date in order to allow the attorney to prepare a defense.

All day the excitement throughout Siskiyou has been intense, althou of condemnation concerning the part of the lynchers as the general impression or condemnation concerning the part of the lynchers as the general impression is that Judge Lynch's sentence was just though severe. Especially in Yreka has excitement run high, people hurrying from all sections of the county to view the ghastly result of the midnight raid on the county jail. Telegrams of inquiry from newspapers and individuals all up and down the Coast have been pouring in, all seeking particulars of the tragedy.

The Coroner's jury today rendered a verdict that Johnson, Null, Moreno and Stemler came to their deaths by strangulation at the hands of parties unknown to the jury. The only sympathy felt is for young Stemler on account of his youth. The chances are thought to be that none of the lynchers will be apprehended.

colored, last Friday night, from the

The mob procured sledge-hammers, and, after three hours' work, succeeded in battering down the jail door.
Lewis begged piteously for life, but the mob was composed of colored men.

On Friday night Lewis went to the Brooks house, and, calling him to the door, shot him down on his own threshold without warning. Then a little gray-bearded man in citizen's clothes stepped up and said: "Hold on there, sir; I think I'll take a look through those things myself."

"This is an outrage," said Griesedeck, and he turned pale. When the customs officers completed their investigation they made an inventory of dutlable goods found in Griesedeck's effects as follows: One gentleman's gold watch, five gold chains, two diamond, ruby and sapphire rings, one pair diamond sleeve buttons, four ladies' gold watches, nine tablecloths; seven dozen napkins, three bolts of silk, six pairs of kid gloves, four pairs silk gloves, seventeen pocket knives, nine cigar cutters and several other articles. The value of the goods was estimated at $2000.

"I admit I have made a grave mistake," Griesedeck said, "and I am ready and willing to pay the duty on them. How much is it?"

"We regret that it is too late," said the inspectors. "We shall have to place you under arrest."

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.) NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—The Ward-line steamer Santiago, which has just arrived here, brought several passengers who could give authentic informa tion about the insurrection in Cuba. Among those on board were Dr. H. von Herit of this city and John L. Bourdette, administrator of the Santa Maria plantation at Guantanamo, which was recently raided, in conversation with a

Some of them has closed their doors. Recently the government issued an order forbidding the merchants to sell any goods or materials to women and children from the country. This was done to cut off the insurrectionists from obtaining any supplies from the towns. I made-a trip from Santiago to the interior of the country, but it was a risky undertaking. The raliroad was guarded at several points by Spanish troops. The province of Santiago de Cuba is sparsely settled, the principal places being the settlements of the workmen on big sugar plantations. Inland provinces, in fact the eastern half of Cuba, is mountainous and covered with dense forests. When the revolutionists are closely pressed they take to the woods and it is almost impossible for the Spanish to penetrate. The revolutionists are simply carrying on a guerilla warfar. Every few days I heard of some raid which usually consists in destroying a plantation. There is little fighting going on.
"No one ventures to predict when the war will come to an end. If the insurrection goes on for another year the sugar industry will be prostrated. "The sugar planters are between the devil and the deep sea. If they do not pay large sums of money for 'protection,' their fields are laid waste. If they ask 'protection' from the government, they are marked as enemies of the republic, and their property will be set on fire or ruined at the first opportunity."

On the steamer as a fellow-passenger with Dr. von Herff was John La Bourdette of Guantanamo. His mission to this city is an unusual one. Some time last May he received notice from the leader of the revolutionist army that the owner of the plantation was expected to contribute to the aid of the cause. Later on the plantation was raided and recently matters became so serious that La Bourdette decided to leave the island and to come to New York for consultation. In an inferview La Bourdette, who speaks no English, said: "The Santa Maria plantation is owned by Senor Fernando Pons, who now lives in Paris. It consists of about 3500 acres, and the estate is valued at $1,000,000. I did not pay much attention at first to the demands of the insurrectionists, but on August $1 received a letter from Gen. Maceo, who was very much in earnest. So I have come to this city to see whether we should raise and pay the money or

WYOMING LAWS.

They Cut No Figure as Against the WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—It has been definitely decided by the Indian Bureau that no attention will be paid to the game laws of Wyoming where they come in conflict with the treaty of the United States with the Bannock and Shoshone Indians. The Attorney-General, after considering the matter, has informed the Secretary of the Interior and the Commissioner of Indian Affairs that the rights of Indians to hunt on unoccupied lands, in his opinion, is unquestionable, and the State of Wyoming has no power to limit or abridge this right. No definite steps to enforce this determination have been decided upon, further than that instructions to the United States District Atornetys to secure the release of Indians now in custody on writs of habeas corpus will probably be supplemented by an order to do the same thing in case any arrest is made in the future.

The bureau will discourage hunting by Indians as far as possible, and at present no passes will be issued permitting the braves to leave the reservation. It is probabler that a small number of soldiers will be kept in the Jackson Hole country during the remainder of the hunting season, and if it be deemed advisable at any time to permit Indians to leave the reservation to hunt, the whites possibly will not be permitted to molest them.

It is hoped, however, that work on the irrigation ditch, soon to be contracted for, will furnish occupation and money for the Indians, making hunting unnecessary for their maintenance during the winter. No immediate trouble is anticipated, as the Indians are now on the reservation, and likely to remain there for the present.

to cause one to wonder if the inhabitants of greater Boston have been forced inside the city's limit.

All day londs commanderies have been arriving from north, south, east and west. By hundreds and fifties they have come in coach, parlor cars, sleeper and special, until tonight there is assembled here an army, the like of which in splendor and good fellowship has never been seen before in Boston.

The entire city has donned a holiday dress, and on every hand flags, banners, gaily-colored streamers and flashing lights greet the eye. Immense numbers of incandescent lights have been arranged to represent every Masonic emblem. The Masonic Temple decorations are, of course, the most elaborate, the principal feature being a huge outline cross of colored lights, covering almost the entire front of the building. The Albion building is not far behind, and all along Newspaper Row the occupants have extended a welcome to the Sir Knights in a blaze of light.

The weather clerk says there is no cause for alarm, and every one is expecting a glorious sight tomorrow moorning, when the thousands of knights parade. Many grand stands have been erected, and today the building inpectors closely examined every structure, and condemned many as unsafe. All these have been placarded with an official notice, and no one will be allowed to occupy them. The different hotels where the large commanderies are making their headquarters have been jammed to the doors. Each commandery is keeping open house, and a constant stream of humanity in black and gold regalia has been pouring in and out since early morning.

The principal reception of the day was at the headquarters of the Boston Commandery in Horticultural Hall. Two tables stretched from one end of the hall to the other, loaded with eatables, while attendants dispensed punch from enormous bowls. A general invitation was extended to visiting Sir Knights to make themselves at home, and there was no formality. Minneapolis Report,

Minneapolis, Aug. 26.—Assistant County Attorney Peterson admitted that the evidence against Mrs. Perkins in the Hawkins murder case was thus far entirely circumstantial and that she would not have been arrested yesterday if it had not been for positive knowledge of her previous criminal career in Minneapolis.

The police had before the first accldental fires investigated two shady transactions. In the first a well-known citizen spent a night with Mrs. Perkins, only to find in the morning that his pockets had been rified of valuables. The police, after investigation, forced Mrs. Perkins to restore them. In the second case a well-known man about town had become involved with the two women. Several checks with his signature forged turned up at the bank. He was not in a position to dispute the signature and they were paid.

The State believes that Mrs. Hawkins was slowly being poisoned, and that the fire was thought of to conceal evidence of it.

A HOODOO IN CANADA. A HOODOO IN CANADA,
MONTREAL (Quebec.) Aug. 26.—
Several hundred excursionists aboard the steamer Cultivateur had a narrow escape from serious accident by fire last evening on Lake Francis, two miles from shore. An oil stove in the lunchroom was overturned, and in an instant the room was enveloped in flames. The prompt action of a few passengers and deck-hands saved the boat from serious damage and probable destruction, and a combination of bravery and lucky circumstances averted a panic, which would surely have resulted seriously.

Among the passengers were nearly two hundred Knights Templars and their guests from Chicago and other parts of Illinois. Loss to Trunk Lines Fully Ten Per Cent. of Gross Earnings.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REFORT.)

CHICAGO, Aug. 26.—According to Spoor's Manual, the leading trunk lines lost during the first half of the present year in cut rates and differentials allowed to the weaker lines 33 per cent as compared with what they would have received had full tariff rates been maintained on all of the lines.

The cuts which were made were the worst ever resorted to. Grain rates, for instance, were cut from 25 to 8 cents per ton. The loss in both freight and passenger earnings for the year because of cut rates amounts to fully 10 per cent of the gross earnings of the roads.

Invitations are extended to the survivors of the several armies that engaged in the battles of Chickamauga and Chattanooga. It is obviously impracticable for the Secretary of Warto issue individual invitations. In view of the large attendance which now seems assured, it is suggested that all to issue individual invitations. In view of the large attendance which now seems assured, it is suggested that all who expect to be present make immediate arrangements for quarters through the Chattanooga Citizens Executive Committee. OPCULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORTA (REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REGULAR)
LONDON, Aug. 26.—(By Atlantic Cable.) The Paris correspondent of the Times quotes an article from the Temps in the Waller case, and the incident of the refusal of the Castine's commander to salute the garrison at Tamatave. The Temps says that the treaty recognizing the Hovas supremacy which was cited as a reason for the Castine's action, did not prevent America in 1887 from asking for the exequateur of ex-Consul Campbell through the French resident, and from American ship pillaged on the coasts The Temps also asserts that the Cas-tine's officers, disregarding the porregulations, went ashore before the harbor master had examined the yes-sel's papers. The scuffle which oc-curred on the wharf between the Cas-tine's officers and the French harbor officials has been detailed in previous dispatches to the Associated Press.

JOHN BULL AFTER THEM. LONDON, Aug. 26.—The Daily News in an editorial on the Waller case, says LONDON, Aug. 28.—The Daily News, in an editorial on the Waller case, says: "The French are in a bad way in Madagascar, and in addition, by their ridiculously severe sentence of Waller they have involved themselves in a they have involved themselves in a grave international question. There is a certain irony in the mischance which has embroiled them with a power so absolutely indifferent to the Madagascar question. They must have gone out of their way to fix a quarrel on the American Consul. It is their misfortune that these things were done for them not by statesmen, but by soldiery. Undoubtedly the matter will be amicably arranged. The French have repeatedly shown themselves willing to acknowledge an error of temper and to offer reparation of a mistake."

An editorial in the Post says: "The grossly-discourteous behavior of the French officials at Tamatave to the American officials at Tamatave to the American officials has been apologized for, but the Waller case is one of the most high-handed pieces of persecution the recent history of civilized States has afforded."

COMPLAINT AGAINST CONSUL WELLER.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—Charles T. Lyons of Brooklyn has presented charges to the State Department at Washington against United States Con-Washington against United States Con-sul Weller of Madagascar. He claims that Weller was not energetic in guarding the interests of ex-Consul Waller, sentenced to twenty years' im-the French authorities in Madagascar. Lyons also claims that Weller, from interests purely personal, caused his (Lyons's) arrest, on the charge of violating the United States statutes. According to Lyons, all that he did was to open a letter addressed to himself, written by Consul Weller, It was charged by Consul Weller, however, that this letter was written to the governor of one of the provinces of Madagascar. On this charge Lyons was arrested, but, fearing that he might not receive fair treatment under the circumstances, when released on ball he left the country.

amount really represented. He replied that approximately that was the amount due the Treasury on balance of copyright and salary accounts as he found it. An unfavorable and wholly wrong construction, he said, had been placed upon it as representing a large deficit, whereas it was actually a balance between the two accounts, the salary account due the librarian for several months' disbursements and an account due the government for several months' disbursements and an account due the government for several months' copyright fees.

These accounts had remained unsettled, although constant payments had been made by him to the number of ten or twelve during 1894 and 1895 of copyright receipts amounting to over $55,000, besides the $22,400 now deposited. He emphatically denied the allegations that the recent payment was to make good any wrongful withholding of moneys due to the government. On the contrary, the whole matter involved a balancing of delayed accounts which his accumulated labors had too long postponed. All copyright receipts had been entered daily, with dates, sources and amounts, whether small or large, duly noted, and he (Spofford) held himself responsible for the same.

JUSTICE HOLT'S WILL.

It Comes to Light in a Very Peculiar Manner.
REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORTA

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—The will of the late Justice Holt, who was Judge-Advocate-General of the United States Advocate-General of the United States army during the war, was filed today. The instrument was witnessed twenty years ago by Gens. Grant and Sherman and Mrs. Sherman. The estate, valued at between $200,000 and $300,000, is left to Lizzie Haynes, niece, and John Throckmorton, a grandchild. Holt was a Kentuckian, but for twenty-five years lived in this city. He died here several months ago, leaving considerable property, but no will, so far as the most diligent search could discover. Arrangements were made accordingly for its division among his nearest relatives.

Arrangements were made accordingly for its division among his nearest relatives.

This morning the registrar of wills received in the mails a letter containing an old, faded and partially-burned sheet of paper, which, on examination, purported to be an old will of Judge Holt. There was no communication accompanying the paper to show the sender or the motive for transmitting it.

The property went into the hands of two trust companies as administrators, for distribution to the legal heirs. They were W. D. Holt, J. W. Holt and W. G. Starret, the well-known Texas newspaper correspondent. Josephine Holt Throckmorton is: a daughter of Maj. Throckmorton, U.S.A. She is married and lives in New York. Miss Haynes is also living. The executor of the will thus strangely found is a clerk in the War Department, who was the confidential secretary of Judge Holt when the will was written. He has identified the writing.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.) SIOUX CITY (Iowa.) Aug. 26.—Sunday morning's double tragedy in a house of ill-fame now seems likely to prove to be a double murder instead of a murder and a suicide. Ora Minter, alias Hazel Hammond, who was found with a bullet record in the base head beside. with a bullet wound in her head beside the dead body of Max Noack, who had also been shot, died today without segaining consciousness. The death of the girl destroys the hope of the police that she would be able to throw some light on the affair. Chief of Police Young believes a third person had a hand in the tragedy. He believes hand in the tragedy. He believes Noack went to the house and was robbed. The proprietor of the hotel where Noack was stopping says he had considerable money, and as no one saw him spend any, it is thought that he had it when he went to the house.
Those who believe in the double-murder theory think that when Noack disder theory think that when Noack discovered he had been robbed, he raised a row and was shot by the robber, who then shot the girl to cover up his crime. The father of the girl has arrived here from his home at Central City, Neb. He says that his daughter, up to three months ago, had moved in the best society in that city, had been a member of the church and taught a Sunday-school class. He lays the girl's downfall to the proprietress of the house in which the girl stayed here, and who was a school-chum of Ora Minter's at Central City. No arrests have yet been made in the case, and none will probably be made until tomorrow.

She Dies in San Francisco Knowing Not That He was Then in the Same City.

A Strange Story Brought Out by the Tragic Death of ex-Sergt Denis Murphy.

Juror in the Durrant Case- A Young Millionaire's Death-A Farmer Killed.

(BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TIMES.)
SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 26.—(Special Dispatch.) The story of a mother's forty years of futile search for her boy will be told today in Judge Slack's urt. Around it will cluster many in-dents, such as a residence for some onths in the same city just prior to death, and the tragic taking off of her son, then a man of 60 years, with circumstances which led to his identiation by his sisters.

fication by his sisters.

The strange story reaches the public through the application made by M. C. Hassett, on behalf of the brothers, sisters and nephew of Denis Murphy, for a distribution of his estate, consisting of over $4000 in bank.

of over $4000 in bank.

In January last Denis Murphy, a retired sergeant in the United States. Army, was drowned in the bay. No one knows if the death was the result of accident or of crime, though probably he was the victim of robbers, as on the day of his disappearance Murphy had draw. on the day of his disappearance and phy had drawn $100 at army headquarters in the Phelan building. It was several weeks before the body was found, and then it was given an honorable interment in the cemetery by the military authorities.

On the day of the funeral Miss Johanna Murphy called the attention of her sister, Mrs. Robertson, to a noof the deceased in the papers, and they recalled the fact of the finding of the remains in the bay. They con-cluded that the dead man might be their long-lost brother, whom their mother had vainly sought for up to the hour of her death, and hurried to the undertaking establishment, from which the interment was to take place. But they arrived too late. The body had been removed, and at that time was being placed in the grave. The sisters and brothers pursued their researches and obtained such informaes, and obtained such informa tion, written and oral, as to satisfy them that Denis Murphy, whose body was found floating in the bay, was their missing relative, and this claim they will seek to establish in the court to-

The story of the mother's search is as strange as anything in fiction. The Murphy family moved to Boston from Ireland when Denis was 12 years old. When he was 20 he left Boston, in 1853, for California, but after reaching San Francisco he disappeared and nothing was heard of him till 1890, when he vis-ited his sister in Boston and said that he was on an American man-of-war. The old mother, who had lived for years in San Francisco, searched the naval register, but found that the clew was false.

"J. C. Stubbs, the elder Huntington's right-bower so far as traffic manage-ment is concerned, arrived here from New York yesterday, where he had been attending some meetings of Eastern freight officials. He leaves for Los Angeles tonight to attend the conference there, and will be accompanied by H. E. Huntington, J. A. Fillmore and T. H. Goodman. At their destination they will be met by the chief officials of the Atlantic system of the Southern Paific, including General Manager Kruttschnitt, General Superintendent Van Vleck and General Passenger Agent Morse. At the conference, which will continue several days, Mr. Fillmore will represent two offices of the Pacific continue several days, Mr. Fillmore will represent two offices of the Pacific system, general superinteadent and general manager.

"Only three persons residing in this city have official authority over the Southern Pacific lines east of El Paso. They are J. C. Stubbs, C. F. Crocker and H. E. Huntington. The authority possessed by Stubbs arises from his incumbency of the office of third vice-president of the corporation; that of Col. Crocker from his position as first vice-president, while the younger Huntington's power is by virtue of his employment as first assistant to the president. Now it is intended to enlarge the scope of authority of the president's nephew by giving him the second-vice-presidency without depriving him of the position he now holds.

"This vice-presidency has been vacant since the death of A. N. Towne, who discharged its duties in addition to those of general manager. Mr. Towne, however, was never authorized to manage Southern Pacific lines east of El Paso. Hitherto such management has been entrusted to Mr. Kruttschnitt. Should Huntington get the second vice-presidency, however, he would become the superior of Kruttschnitt, and also of Mr. Towne's successor as general manager, and both officials would be obliged to report to him, and be directed by orders from his office. The enlargement of his power would, it is generally believed, be gratifying to young Huntington, for the reason that he takes a keen interest in the operating department of the hig concern presided over by his powerful uncle.

"The contemplated promotion would have this significance to the general ful uncle.

"The contemplated promotion would have this significance to the general public: That with H. E. Huntington as second vice-president, all of the operating work of the Southern Paring lines would be directed from this city, just as all of the traffic business is being directed by Mr. Stubbs."

A FALLING OFF.

San Joaquin Makes no Boom Claim Before the Equalizers.
(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.) (REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)
SACRAMENTO, Aug. 26.—San Joaquin county was taken up today by the State Board of Equalization. The county was represented by L. C. Ortman, Assessor; J. W. Willy, deputy assessor; R. E. Wilhoit and A. J. Hemp-sessor; R. E. Wilholt and A. J. Hemphill.

Willy stated that the roll this year was $327,403 less than that of last year, all on personal property. The assessment on horses and mules fell off $115,000, and on cattle, sheep and hogs, $49,000. He had assessed wheat at $12 per ton, and sheep at $1 per head. City property was assessed at about the same rate. There were no new buildings. Outside real estate was increased $150,250, and the improvements on the same were reduced $21,892. The shortage on city and town lots was $2366, most of this being caused by reductions in Lathrop and Clements. There were no new buildings in San Joaquin county that he knew of. The reductions on improvements in city and town lots were $15,083. Willy explained that the best city property—the real estate—in Stockton was assessed at from $450 to $520 per front foot.

The board next considered the assessment of Sacramento county, the total valuation of property being shown to be $32,713,167. Members of the board had remarked that Assessor Berkey's assesments were too low, and that official went into details to explain why that was not so.

His Followers Appear as a State Committee and Throw out Chair-man Gilkeson.

The Rival Organizations Preparing Rolls of Delegates for Today's Convention.

Prospects for Two Conventions and Two Republican Tickets—Gov. Hastings Invited to Get out of the Fight.

REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)
HARRISBURG (Pa.,) Aug. 26.—Sena tor Quay and his followers made a bold dash today in the fight for Pepublican supremacy in this State by taking posiston of the State Committee head quarters and deposing B. F. Gilkeson from the chairmanship. Their object in doing this was to place themselves in a position to prepare the rolls of the delegates to Wednesday's convention in a position to prepare the rolls of the delegates to Wednesday's convention so that they might appear before that body with a prima-facie case. What the effect of this movement will be cannot yet be foretold, and the next movement of the Hastings people is looked for with great interest.

The situation in general tonight is intensely exciting, and altogether un-certain. Both factions are claiming victory, but it must be admitted that those who are opposing the aspirations and confident. The junior Senator has his headquarters at the Lochiel Hotel, where he has put in a very busy day and night. The delegates are slow in arriving, not more than fifty of the 289 having reached the city. As they arrive they are confronted for the first time in the history of the Republican party in this State by dual headquarters of the State Committee. One of these is at the Commonwealth Hotel, and is in charge of Gfikeson, who is assisted by A. D. Fetterolf, secretary of the committee. where he has put in a very busy day the committee.

The other is at the Lochiel Hotel and had been engaged by Chairman Gilkeson, but when he came to take possession this morning he found that Senator Quay's followers had captured the room. Large placards announcing the location of the rival headquarters and requesting delegates to present their credentials at each of them ornament the walls in many parts of town.

Seventy-three of the 121 members of the State Committee attended the meeting held this afternoon in the intermeeting held this afternoon in the interest of Quay. Thomas P. Cooper of Delaware county was made temporary chairman by acclamation. A resolution was then adopted that a committee of three be appointed to wait upon Chairman Gilkeson and then notify him that the committee had convened and that a majority of its members were present and desired him to preside over their deliberations. This committee repaired to the Commonwealth Hotel and found Chairman Gilkeson, to whom ex-Lieut. Gov. Walker read the resolution. When this had been done Gilkeson said: "I have called the State Committee together and I have no business to lay before it."

The committee returned to the Lochiel headquarters and made its report.

The committee returned to the Lochiel headquarters and made its report, after which a resolution was adopted that a committee of nine be appointed on credentials and authorized to make up the roll of delegates to the State convention. The committee was instructed to make its report at a meeting of the State Committee to be held at 11 o'clock tomorrow at the Lochiel headquarters.

A resolution was also adopted instructing a committee to ascertain what arrangements had been made for the admission of delegates, members of the press and others entitled to the privilege of the floor, and as to the manner in which the votes upon various propositions were taken. The State committee then adjourned until temocrem

At the anti-Quay headquarters to-night, David Martin, C. L. Magee and other leaders sat around and discussed the situation, all expressing in the most confident manner possible their belief that they had won their fight. Chairman Gilkeson declined to give out any figures, but Martin said he knew of 160 delegates who would vote against Quay for State chairman. This is fif-teen more than the number necessary to win.

teen more than the number necessary to win.

Senator Quay reiterates his previous declaration that he has not less than 160 delegates. Both sides claim to have captured some wavering delegates today. Thomas P. Cooper and Judge Miller called on Gov. Hastings at the Capitol twice after the meeting had adjourned. The anti-Quay people claim that they suggested as a compromise that Quay and Gilkeson both retire, Quay being willing to permit his opponents to name the State chairman.

Cooper says his visit was for an en-tirely different purpose. The sugges-tion he said, was made that it was improper for a man occupying the high improper for a man occupying the high executive position of governor of Pennsylvania to take active part in a factional political fight and that he should therefore get out of it.

Tonight both factions are busy preparing rolls of delegates and it will not be probably known until tomorrow night, when both sides caucus, whether there will be two conventions.

Many of the knowing ones profess to believe tonight that the Quayites, failing to get control of the temporary organization on Wednesday, will bolt and hold an independent convention. In this event there may be two Republican tickets in the field this fail.

EX-GOV. CAMPBELL'S SENTI-MENTS.

gold-standard platform. He met the inquiry by wire as follows:

HAMILITON (O..) Aug. 26.—I did not favor free coinage by the United States alone four years ago, nor do I now, although I am an international bimetallist. What I said four years ago was that I would take the chances of election upon the platform as I found it.

A TALK WITH JUDGE CALDWELL TOPEKA (Kan.,) Aug. 26.—Judge Henry Caldwell of the United States Circuit Court is here today to enter a decree tomorrow for the sale of the Santa Fe. He was loth to talk of any-thing which concerns him personally. "I suppose you know that you have been mentioned in connection with the been mentioned in connection with the Presidential nomination?" asked the re

"Yes," he answered, "I have heard "Yes," he answered, "I have heard something of it. It is a matter about which I do not care to talk. It is a question of individual preference with the millions of voters. So far as I am concerned, the mention of my name in that connection is out of the question. I do not regard it at all serious, and I think no one else does."
"Would you accept it if you were nominated?"
"I would prefer not to talk about the matter, and I have had nothing to do with whatever talk has been going the rounds," replied Judge Caldwell.
"The people in the West understand that you are for free silver. That is where you stand, is it not?" questioned the reporter.

The face of the Judge lightened up with enthusiasm as he answered:
"Yes, sir; that is correct. I am for free silver without reserve or any reference to an international agreement. It is plain to me that there can be no international agreement favorable to silver, because England will not agree to accept free silver. What is the use of paying any attention to the foreign countries, anyway? Are we not capable of managing our own affairs? I think we are, and if not I am in favor of annexing the United States to Canada or some other convenient country."

Judge Caldwell takes a great deal of pride in the dispatch with which the affairs of the Santa Fe road have been adjusted since it has been in charge of his court.

"All of the parties," said he, "are adjusted since it has been in charge of his court.

"All of the parties," said he, "are anxious to get the property out of court, and it is believed the decree will be carried into effect and the purchasers at the sale come into possession of the property within sixty days. As for the Frisco and the Atlantic and Pacific, it will require some time lozger. The present receivers of the Santa Fe will be continued as receivers, and will be in charge of the other two lines until the affairs are adjusted and the roads taken out of the hands of the court."

"Do you think the Frisco and the Atlantic and Pacific will be continued under the Santa Fe management?" was asked.

"No one can tell until the roads are "No one can tell until the roads are taken out of the hands of the receivers, but I am of the opinion that the bondholders are in favor of continuing the holders are in favor of continuing the management as one great system. No one can realize the amount of work that has been done to bring the Atchison affairs up to where they are now. The system has been very fortunate in having the very best attorneys, and they are largely instrumental in the speedy adjustment of the affairs of the company. The trusteeship of the Union Trust Company of New York has also been a great help and the speedy arrangement of the business is a matter of congratulation. It is my policy to

The loss to the building and stock is not large.

Detectives Auble and Hawley took him into costody, but as their in vestigation is not completed the pris oner's name does not yet appear on the police blotter. The officers refuse for the time being to give out any information regarding the case. It has been learned, however, that while the same Hotel similar robberles took place in that hostelry.

Sympathy Awakened.

A fund has been started for the ben efit of Mrs. Albert Albright who her two bables slept in the City Jail last her two bables slept in the City Jail last Saturday night. The article in Sun-day's Times awakened sympathy for the unfortunate woman and a number of parties have called at the police sta-tion to make inquiries and offer assist-ance. Among them was a lady from tion to make inquiries and offer assistance. Among them was a lady from Pasadena and Mrs. C. E. Gillette of Boyle Heights. A lady residing in East Los Angeles who is a friend of Mrs. Albright took her and the babies away from the jail on Sunday. Yesterday the poor woman applied for work at the Troy laundry. Some money has been left with Capt. Roberts, but more is needed to pay the woman's way to Nashville, Tenn., where she desires to go to escape the tyranny of her worthless husband.

Missing Johnston.

The missing George T. Johnston of Arizona, for whom the sheriff's officers arizona, for whom the sherint's officers are so eagerly hunting, has not yet been found. It is rumored, since his disappearance, that numerous unhonored checks signed by him while cutting such a swell at Avalon are turning up. This makes the sleuths all the more anxious to lay hands on him.

Gave Himself Up. J. B. Meyer, the plumber for whos arrest a warrant was issued because he left a trench open last Friday night into which four wheelmen tumbled, gave himself up yesterday to Officer Sparks and put up $10 cash ball for his appearance in the Police Court.

The Dress of Small Women.

(Harper's Bazar:) The short French skirt is very generally adopted for small girls. It reaches just below the knee and is made exceedingly full. To keep it quite round there is usually a lower skirt gathered to the same belt and of the exact length of the outer skirt. Under this is worn a stiffly-starched skirt of cambric and a shorter muslin petiticoat.

For pretty little frocks to wear on summer afternoons there is a fancy for large-flowered organdles even for very small girls. They are made very full in every way—full French skirts of four breadths, full waists of medium length, and large balloon-puffed sleeves reaching to the elbow. The neck may be rounded low to show a guimpe, or else a mere chemisette is used on account of the elbow sleeves. The trimming is a cream-white lawn collarette of great size pointed out on the sleeves and lower still down the front and back, and edged with two narrow gathered ruffles of yellow Valenciennes. They are made up over linings of white batiste or Victoria lawn throughout. A satin ribbon belt of the color prevailing in the blossoms has two choux in front and two in the back. A hem six inches wide is around the skirt.

Pink is the favorite color for girls' best frocks this season, whether of dimity, lawn, pique or organdie. With them they wear white hats of Neapolitan or fancy straw, or of the familiar Legharn with flapping brim trimmed with a large bow of many loops of pink ribbon, either taffeta or satin, and a cluster of pink ostrich tips, with sometimes a bunch of pink blossoms, rosses, arbutus, apple blossoms, or some deeper red poppies, very large and with showy silk petals.

The following simple remedy for driving away the files is suggested in one of our exchanges: Buy 5 cents' worth of oil of lavender at the drug store and of our exchanges. Buy 5 cents' worth of oil of lavender at the drug store and mix it with the same quantity of water. Then put it in a common glass atomizer and spray it around the rooms where files are apt to congregate, especially in the dining-room, sprinkling it plentifully over the table linen. The odor is capacitally disagreeable to files, and they will never venture in its neighborhood, though to most people it has a peculiarly fresh and grateful smell.

THE NEED FOR A TANNERY. Kansas City is setting an example that Los Angeles might well follow. Kansas City has been sending east for some years past an average of overone million hides a year, to be converted into leather, and then bringing back the manufactured hides in the shape of leather, boots, shoes, harness and other articles for which leather is used. The leather dealers of that city have reached the conclusion that the wisest thing to do is to tan their own hides and make their own boots, shoes and harness at home. To this end, a company has lately been formed in Kansas City to establish a tannery to convert their hides into leather, thereby saving the cost of transportation to the East and back, plus the eastern manufacturers' profit.

The Times and other Los Angeles papers have had something to say on this subject from time to time, endeavoring to make clear the necessity of a large tannery in Los Angeles, so that, instead of shipping hides east, as Kansas City has been doing, tan them here, and sell the manufactured article to the leather dealers of Southern California. The amount of capital necessary for the establishment of a tannery is not enormous, and, if figured in connection with the demand for leather in Southern California, would be relatively small, compared with the business to be done. The hides are here, the water is here, and the canaaria for tanning can be had and grown in an inexhaustible supply. Leather merchants and the large harness and shoe manufacturers of Los Angeles should give this matter their attention. They would find it would repay them.

should give this matter their attention. They would find it would repay them.

CANAAGRIA. On August 4 The Times in this column stated that an experiment had been made in Riverside with canaagria for leather tanning by an experienced tanner and that the result showed, as tested on forty calfskins, a tanned leather superior to that tanned by either hemlock or oak. The leather produced was soft and pilable and closely resembled French calfskin. Since then The Times has received a copy of the Phoenix (Ariz.) Gazette containing the substance of a report on the growth of canaagria which is to be submitted by representatives from Arizona and New Mexico to the Irrigation Congress which opens next month in Albuquerque. The report will say, in substance, that the experiments made during the last few years at the agricultural collèges of Arizona and New Mexico prove conclusively that canaagria can be grown in both those Territories most successfully. From ten to twenty tons per acre can be raised. It further says that up to the present time all the wild camaagria that has been gathered has been shipped to foreign countries. The report will further show that from January 21, 1891, to October 31, 1892, a period of twenty-one months, the Southern Pacific Company hauled 370 cars of the sliced and dried root consigned to European tanners understand its advantages even if the American tanners do not.

Again it is stated that it would take vantages even if the American tanners do not.

Again it is stated that it would take 90,000 tons of canaagria to take the place of gambier imported into the United States. It has been shown that canaagria can be grown to perfection in Southern California. That much being stated, the necessity for a tannery in Los Angeles, referred to above, again naturally presents itself inasmuch as the three things required are here in abundance: hides, water and canaagria.

Ing stated, the necessity for a tannery in Low Angeles, referred to above, again the three Chings required are here in abundance hides water and consagrate.

THE "NAVEL" SHOULD STAND. Charles E. Joralemon of New York, broker in that city of the Southern California fruit exchanges, has addressed a letter to the California Fruit Grower which performes the double duty of pointing a moral and adorning a tale. The letter will prove of immediate interest to the orange-growers of Southern California, and is as follows: "California has made its reputation on the navel orange here in New York and by this name it is known. The Everest ranch fruit is marked "seedless," but the boys on the dock guess that they are navels and when they get them home they brand them 'navels.' I am surprised at your ever thinking of a change. We are plain, matter-of-fact people here, and many an orange has been bought on the fruit stands because of this well known, natural trade-mark. That has made people try them and now the name is a fact and a commercial product. Don't, for goodness' sake, try to change it. Seedless and seedlings would be confounded. 'Peerless' belongs to potatoes, tomatoes, etc. That word 'navel' and the beauty of the fruit have established California oranges in the East forever. Change the name and a suspicion will arise detrimental to the grower. Never try to deceive people. The oranges are correctly named and known the world over as such. Change the morals of the whole world if you can, but don't think the East, which is highly educated as to art, cares for such a trifle. The 'navel' orange is established, and to think the California Fruit Grower should advocate a change is beyond my comprehension." should advocate a change is beyond my comprehension."

REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—The week opened with active and buoyant speculation in the railway list, the Granger shares being the features of the trading. Buying was exceptionally good and well distributed, and the commission-houses were in receipt of a greater number of orders today than for some weeks past. Among the causes of the improvement, the excellent crop advices were most potent. The street also accepted the Eric reorganization plan as a factor for the good of the general market, as it is calculated to encourage holders of shares in other insolvent corporations to hope for a speedy rehabilitation. The heaviness of sterling exchange, the small engagements of gold for shipment to Europe tomorrow and the belief that this week's exporta-has already contracted for the sale of its walnut crop on the understanding that the price for the same should not be fixed until shortly before the maturing of the crop, in order to better determine both quality and quantity of the crop. The probabilities are that the price of the association will be the ruling price for all other growers.

It is generally reported that the walnut crop will be larger than was supposed. The deficiency in the older orchards will be made up by the good yields of the younger trees. Some estimate the crop of the State at from two hundred and thirty carloads of ten tons each.

The Visible Supply.

Grain and Produce.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)

CHICAGO, Aug. 26.—Wheat ruled very weak at first, and at one time sold off 1½c from the close Saturday. The weakness was due to lively pressure to sell, on easier cables, fear of big marketings of wheat in the Northwest and more figures and estimates clalining an enormous yield in that section. Another reason for weakness was the big world's shipments last week, stated to be 8000 bushels. After the market had gone off nearly 1c the visible supply was reported as showing the surprising decrease of 1.800,000 bushels, way beyond what had been expected, against an increase in the same week last year of 870,000 bushels. This started the early sellers to covering and there was a reaction of %c. After selling up to 61½ on the big decrease in the visible. September fell to 61 and closed at 61½, a loss of %c for the day. Corn was in line with wheat. The selling of May was heavy and persistent, and the price lost %c. Trading in September was comparatively light. September oats closed ½c lower. Provisions were dull and generally weak. September lard is 2½c lower and September ribs 5c lower. Foth September and January pork improved, the former 2½c and the latter 5c.

American securities were strong, closing at the best, but the buying was mainly from New York. The rise of 2½ in St. Paul was the feature. A pool is in this stock, said to be formed in New York. Brooklyn Bridge.

(Harper's Round Table:) For nearly five years I have been going over the Brooklyn Bridge night and day, and it seems to me that every few days I see something in the arrangement of the details of the structure that I never saw before. It is a constant delight to watch the bridge under the varying conditions that affect it from day to day. One can see, for example, how carefully the wires for the electric lights are strung. They are almost within reach of any person walking across the structure, and yet there is absolutely no danger from them. It is interesting to watch the bracing of the structure, how the big and little stays slope now this way and that, and to note just where they change in their slanting direction. It is also interesting at the dead of night to see the workmen spilec one of the car cables, taking out some broken strand and weaving in another.

I was talking with one of the guards recently, who had been on the bridge since the day it was opened. He said that early one morning, in the first high wind that came after the opening, he looked over to the New York side and apparently saw one of the biggest chimneys in town bending this way, and that, and he stood there transfixed, waiting for it to fall. It didn't fall, although it bent far over, and he thought it must be wonderful mortar that could hold so many bricks together. Suddenly he noticed that the chimney was exactly in a line with one of the vertical strands from the cables, and he saw at once that it was the bridge and not the chimney that was swaying. The guard was unprepared for such a situation. Of course the bridge was moving only a few inches from side to side, but when this man measured by a chimney a mile away it seemed to move as much as the chimney apparently had been moving.

The Corbett family have been trying for some years to break into baseball, and at last they have succeeded. It will be remembered that Baltimore thought of signing "Jim" Corbett as an advertising card, but the league vetoed the proposition. "Jim" then began to pull the strings for brother "Joe," with the result that the young man bas been signed by the Washington club of the National League. Manager Schmelz, in speaking of the matter, said he had engaged Corbett to pitch, and while he hardly expected to use him much this season, he would give him a trial. Corbett is expected to report in about a week. He is 21 years of age, and has played considerably at shortstop. He is the engaging young person who, during the row between his gentlemanly brother and Fitzsimmons, grasped the latter about the neck and held him so the middle-weight could do nothing. His advent in the game of baseball will be closely watched.

sured that an unlimited market would be made for his products abroad, by reason of our greatly increased imports. Instead, our exports have steadily dwindled. He was told, also, that he would receive better prices for his products, by reason of the increased demand for them which free trade would create. Instead, the prices which the farmer receives for his products have fallen lower and lower. He was like wise informed that free imports of for eign wool would surely, in some mysterious manner, enhance the prices paid for American wool. Instead, the prices of American wool have fallen lower than ever before, and the entire extinction of the sheep-raising industry in the United States is threatened. Moreover, we were all assured that with free trade in wool the prices of clothing and all kinds of woolen fab rics would be greatly lowered. This promise, like the others, has failed of fulfillment to any appreciable extent The prices of woolen clothing and fabrics have not been materially cheapened, if cheapened at under free trade in wool though American sheep-raisers are be ing driven to the wall. The quality of voolens has deteriorated by reason of the greater use of shoddy and of inferior foreign wools in their manufacture. These shoddy goods may in som cases be offered for sale cheaper than goods of apparently like grade were sold for under the McKinley tariff. But when the matter of quality is taken into consideration, it is altogether prob able that the prices of woolens are actnally higher now than they were one year ago. The efforts of the free-trade press to convince unthinking persons that there have been large reductions in the prices of woolen goods are groesque and amusing. Who, then, has been benefited by the existing tariff, which has now been in operation one year? Clearly nobody save the importers of foreign merchandise and the producers thereof. No productive industry has been benefited: no new manufactories have been built ce of the enactment of this law. No American wage-earners have had their wages increased though hundreds of thousands have had their wages reduced through the operation of this tariff "of perfidy and disonor." The American farmer has derived no benefit from the law, but, on the contrary, has suffered direct injury and loss. Our imports have increased, but our exports have decreased, signally disproving the freetrade sophism that foreigners will buy more of our products if we buy more of theirs. In fact, the existing tariff has proven a decided failure in every important particular. The government has lost millions of the needed revenue through its operation, and has been forced to borrow money to meet current expenses, while no compensating benefit has accrued to anybody. How long shall such a miserable makeshift law be permitted to stand?

And so, after all, La Fiesta de Cripple Creek was a rather dismal failure The dispatches sent out on Saturday night were, it seems, altogether "too previous." It must be confessed that the affair was conducted under some difficulties, as the managers were under arrest for cruelty to animals during a considerable portion of the time when the show was supposedly in progress. It is barely possible that, had the news of the Cripple Creek fiasco been received in Los Angeles at an early instead of at a late hour last evening, the meeting which decided to hold a fiesta in Los Angeles in 1896 have pursued a different course.

An esteemed correspondent, who imes in succession, and who is equally "off" on numerous other matters of orthography, logic and fact, sends to The Times from Pasadena a lengthy communication on the silver question. The Times declines to give space to the article, for the reason that it contains no argument which has not heretofore been presented and oftentimes refuted in the same subject, which have been de-clined for similar reasons, the one in question is much too lengthy for use in

The Times, even if it were otherwise acceptable. Correspondents of this paper, of all classes and conditions, highly esteemed and otherwise, are once again and earnestly requested to "boil it down."

Notwithstanding the "crime of 1873" there has been an enormous increas in the amount of silver used as money in this country since that year. As the Louisville Commercial aptly observes "All the silver dollars coined down to that year, and all the minor silver coined down to 1853, when minor silver coins-half dollars and smaller coins-ceased to be a legal tender. amounted to about $89,000,000. Since then there has been coined over four hundred and twenty-three millions of standard silver dollars, and we have on hand $124,583,685 of bullion represented by Treasury notes issued under the so-called Sherman bill, and we coined, besides, some thirty-five millions of trade dollars."

For about half a century the currency of this country has been practically on a gold-standard basis. Gold has been the accepted measure of value, while silver has played a secondary and minor part. The position which silver occupies today in our currency system is as important as any it has occupied during the last fifty years, and there are more silver coins extant today than were ever extant at any previous time within the history of the country. These silver coins are all on a parity with gold, which they would not be long if we had free silver coinage.

The college year at Berkeley will open with the largest entering class in the history of the institution. Present indications are that the freshman class will number over 500. The accommodations for the large body of students are said to be wholly inadequate, and all the available rooms will be overcrowded. The next Legislature will be called upon to provide for enlarging the institution or the attendance will have to be limited.

The fact may cause some disgust in and about San Francisco, but it is a fact, nevertheless, that Los Angeles county has raised more money than all the rest of the State for making an exhibit at the Atlanta Exposition. Having raised the most money, Los Angeles is justly entitled to choice of space and has, fortunately, secured a very advantageous position. The money devoted to this purpose will be well in (Fresno Republican:) There were only three silver miners in the big free-silver convention in San Francisco last week. That does not look very much as though the silver move-ment is worked exclusively by the miners in order to promote their sel-fish interests.

No, not exclusively by miners. On the contrary, it looks as though the political demagogues and professional awsmiths might have a hand in it.

AT THE PLAYHOUSES.

LOS ANGELES THEATER.—This house was fairly well filled last evening to greet the much-advertised comedy, "Jane," which was presented by the Gustave Frohman company, with Miss Anna Parker in the title role. The play was preceded by a curtain lifter entitled "The Lost Sheep," which was well put on, and showed some good bits of acting. Hugo Hicks was good as the patient husband of a driving New England housekeeper, with a Pharisaical species of religion and a razor-like tongue, a part depicted to the life by Miss Adella Barker. Charles Sullivan as Tony Keene was a verita-ble "marvel" of toughness, and Miss did some clever bits af acting in the parts of the old farmer's two daughters.
Philip Stapleton had only a short part as George Monroe, but he contrived to depict the repentant sinner almost as well as did Miss McGregor in Carrie well as did Miss McGregor in Carrie Newton. "Jane" is a sparkling little comedy, full of bright lines and amusing situations, and Miss Parker was irresistibly funny as the keen-witted chambermaid. Mr. Stapleton had a better chance as Charley Shackleton to show what he could do, and sustained the part well, while Mr. Hicks was as much in his element in the part of Mr. Kershaw as he was in the farmer. Thomas Reynolds was fairly good as William, the butter and distressed husband of the lively Jane, although he over-acted at times, as did Miss McGregor the amusing part of Mrs. Chadwick, the gushing widow. The shorter parts made the ensemble harmonious throughout, and the play was greeted with enthusiasm.

Romandy's orchestra is always a pleasure, and the verve and fire with which it rendered "The Warrior's Greeting" could have been given only under Hungarian leadership. Rubinstein's exquisite "Melody" in F was given with a sweetness and depth of feeling that appealed to every musician in the audience, and which showed to the best advantage the excellent material of which the orchestra is composed, and the masterly way it is handled.

(National City Record:) The Midsummer edition of the Los Angeles Times surpasses anything ever attempted in that line in California. It will compare favorably with the holiday editions of metropolitan journals, and it is an excellent number to send to eastern people who have not yet learned the truth about Southern California. It may be said that the special object of the edition, which was to show Southern California's advantages as a summer resort, has been fully attained, and that this great issue is replete with information concerning the many attractions of this land of perpetual sunshine. One of the strong points in its favor is the unusual impartiality with which every section of Southern California has been treated. "Replete with Information."

Yesterday evening's meeting was held in the directors' room of the Chamber of Commerce. President Koepfli of the Merchants' Association presided. Gregory Perkins
Jr., acted as recretary.

A FIESTA WILL BE HELD.

After some preliminary discussion the motion was made that it was the the motion was made that it was the sense of the meeting that a flesta should be held next spring. President-Patterson of the Chamber of Commerce, in speaking of the motion, said he was in favor of holding one, and thought the Merchants' Association, in view of the success of its past work, should again be entitled to the management, and he pledged the co-operation of the affiliated organizations, and believed the citizens generally would respond liber-citizens generally would respond libercitizens generally would respond liber ated organizations, and believed the citizens generally would respond liberally.

On a rising vote the motion to have a flesta next year was carried, the only gentleman present who did not rise for the affirmative being T. A. Elsen.

Mr. Elsen was called upon to explain his objections, if he had any, and replied that he was not in the hotel business, nor agent for any railway, neither did he wish to take a contract to build carnival tribunes, but he heartily favored having another flesta. He explained his failure to vote by the statement that he was at present practically not a member of any of the organizations under whose auspices it was proposed to hold the carnival. He would, however, do his part as an individual when the proper time came.

After some miscellaneous discussion, C. D. Willard moved, in view of the success of the previous flestas, that the Merchants' Association be again requested to assume the management of the fiesta. The motion was carried unanimously, without discussion.

DEFERENCE TO SANTA BARBARA.

DEFERENCE TO SANTA BARBARA DEFERENCE TO SANTA BARBARA.

The question of time of holding the fiesta then came up. George W. Lynch, president of the Southern California Hotel-keepers' Association, who is making arrangements for the meeting of the National Hotel-keepers' Association at Santa Barbara, explained that it was the purpose of the association to meet the week of the Santa Barbara Flower Festival, which had been set for April 8, 9 and 10, but which, it was now proposed to postpone till April 15, 16 and 17, so ar to suit the convenience of the visiting hotel men, who would not leave 17, so as to suit the convenience of the visiting hotel men, who would not leave Chicago before April 10. There would be 600 of them, and Mr. Lynch thought it very important to arrange flesta dates so that the hotel-keepers can see the whole show while here. He suggested that it would be very desirable to the bonifaces, as well as the citizens of Santa Barbara, if the Los Angeles Fiesta were held the week following the Santa Barbara Flower Festival. He said Los Angeles could afford to be magnanimous and give Santa Barbara the preference, as it would promote good feeling and Los Angeles would not suffer by having her flesta after that of Santa Barbara.

J. M. Crawley said it was a question of vital importance to the railroad companies to have the date fixed as soon as possible. He moved, therefore, that the next Flesta de Los Angeles be held the week following the Santa Barbara Flower Festival, whatever week that may be. Max Meyberg seconded the motion and it was carried unanimously that such was the sense of the meeting.

MEYBERG'S PRACTICAL IDEAS. In the course of further miscellaneous discussion, Mr. Patterson said he re-gretted that Mr. Meyberg had declined gretted that Mr. Meyberg had declined re-election as director-general of the fleeta. He did not believe another man so capable could be found to devote the time and attention to the work that Mr. Meyberg did, and he therefore suggested that the management be put in the hands of a committee of three instead of a historial director general. Mail 12. C. Klokke said Mr. Meyberg's previous administrations were eminently successful and he hoped he would reconsider his declination.

Mr. Meyberg said his decision was final and he could not under any circumstances accept the proffered honor. He did not, however, agree with Mr. Patterson in regard to placing the management in the hands of a triumvirate, A committee of three would never carry the work on successfully. There should be one head with absolute power as to general management. That was the only way to do it, and he believed a suitable man for the place could be found.

found.

Mr. Meyberg, in the course of his remarks also said he believed in widening the scope of the flesta. It should be made to embrace all Southern Caliornia. Four days would be enough for Los Angeles, and the dates should be so arranged as to give Santa Barbara. Pasadena, San Diego and other towns a chance to hold similar festivals without being overshadowed by Los Angeles. By a mutual agreement as to date, of the Merchants' Association, said he thought it was a great mistage to ask that body to again assume entire responsibility for the flesta. He for one was opposed to give it full control. The financial strain was too great for one such body to bear and he believed the responsibility should be equally shared by the three businessmen's organizations of the city—the Merchants' Association, the Chamber of Commerce and the Board of Trade. He believed the motion to put the whole thing in the hands of the Merchants' Association should be reconsidered.

Mr. Willard agreed with Mr. Salkey as to the justness of dividing the responsibility, but said it was a courtesy due the Merchants' Association to tender to them again the sole management.

Mr. Jevne took the same view, and Maj. Jones objected to reconsideration.

Mr. Crawley favored reconsideration.

Mr. Meyberg also favored reconsideration. He believed in dividing the responsibility. Had the Merchants' Association been backed up by the Chamber of Commerce and Board of Trade, the City Council would not have subjected them to such shameful treatment when they asked for municipal aid for the flesta. The director-general had asked for 100 extra policemen to handle the crowds, and got twenty-five. It was for lack of proper police

RESPONSIBILITY DIVIDED. MESPONSIBILITY DIVIDED.

Maj. W. C. Furrey said he would play the part of the Good Samaritan who had been doing so much of the talking, for he knew they were very tired. He heartily favored giving the management into the hands of the three trade organizations. Owing to bad financiering, his name, along with that of every other director of the Merchants' Association, was now on the back of a little note that represented the deficit, in the late flesta's exchequer. He wanted everybody in Los Angeles to take part in the next flesta. It was their festival, and not that of the Merchants' Association.

Mr. Willard then moved as a substitute for his original motion that the te for his original motion that the Merchants' Association be requested by this meeting to again undertake the management of the flesta, with the assurance that should they decline to again bear the burden single-handed, the Chamber of Commerce and Board of Trade will join hands with them and assist in the undertaking.

Mr. Bluett offered as a substitute for Mr. Willard's substitute that it be declared the sense of the meeting that the three organizations should jointly carry on the flesta. Nearly all the directors of the Merchants' Association present favored this amendment and it was carried almost unanimously, as was Mr. Willard's substitute as amended.

After some discussion as to the proper way of getting the three bodies named to jointly take up the work, an adjournance of the state of the s to jointly take up the work, an adjou ment was taken sine die, without riving at any definite conclusion.

IN SOCIAL SPHERES. The members and friends of the First Monday, August 19, seven yellowtails, weighing, from 12 to 22 pounds; three barracuda, from 13 to 10 pounds; fifteen rock bass, 13 to 43 pounds.

Tuesday, fifteen yellowtails, from 13 to 42½ pounds; eleven rock bass.

Thursday, five yellowtails, from 12 to 15 pounds, and one long-finned tunny weighing 61½ pounds.

This fish—the tunny—aroused much discusion when he was landed on shore at Avalon and created interest among fishermen. Some declared it was an albicore, but Mr. Plumb, who has caught hundreds of albicore from the deck of a sailing vessel on the coasts of Africa and South America, insisted that this one differed in several respects from the albicore, noticeably in the length of the fins. No albicore, he contended, could tow a boat four miles out to sea as this fish had done, or could show one-third of his struck, Mr. Plumb and Mexican Joe, his faithful lleutenant, were not over fifty yards outside of a kelp-bed. The monster took out 500 feet of line on the first dash. It was impossible to check him and, but for the presence of mind and skill of Joe, Mr. Plumb declares he would have lost his prize. The old Mexican fisherman turned his boat like a fiash and backed up toward the fish, relieving the tremendous strain and thus allowing Mr. Plumb to regain a few yards of his line. The fish kept right on out to sea with a steady pull, Joe relinquishing the oars, and the boat was towed out faster that a boatman could row. After several deep-sea plunges the gamy monster retired about 350 feet below the surface to reflect. He sulked for some time and then permitted himself to be slowly reeled to the surface, where he gave one fearful plunge and then lay passive at the mercy of his captor, who promptly gaffed him. When Mr. Plumb struck this fish he was trolling in about 125 feet of water with a heavy "pipe-sinker" and a flying-fish weighing about a pound for bait, as he was in pursuit of sea bass. By reference to the United States Commission of Fish a perfect engraving of his trophy was found labelled "The Alalon which prayer was offered by Mrs. Jose-phine Marlett. A. M. Armour. Although in part statistical, it was mostly a review of the work of the institution, with comments on the successes achieved. It related, among other things, how in some instances girls who had left their homes and friends to go to places of sin, had been restored to their homes. Husbands and wives had come in their grief, because of impure companionships, to those in charge of the home. Some of these who had thus come were in desperate condition on account of the sin of the other. A tribute of respect was paid to the work of the several officers of the home. Acknowledgments were tendered for the contributions to the institution.

The statistical part of the report stated that on August 1, 1894, there were eleven immates of the institution. There were admitted to it during the year twenty-five, and in it during that period there were eleven births. Of the number stated that had been in the home twelve were in situations, nine were sent to parents or friends, three were married, two left without permission, one was at school and nine were still in the institution. Of the number admitted eighteen were under 20 years of age and seven were over 20 years of age and seven were over 20 years of age and seven were over 20 years of age. The financial statement showed that during the year the receipts were salla. Following the manager's report was ten to sixteen pounds, and five rock bass.

Saturday he caught thirteen yellow-talls from sixteen to twenty-six pounds, and five rock bass, making a total of forty-eight yellowtails taken with rod and reel in five days' fishing.

Mr. Plumb rises at 3 a.m. each morning, takes a 15-cent breakfast, goes ten miles up the coast and arrives at his favorite fishing haunts, which he has christened Devil's Hole and Angel's Cove, at 4:30 o'clock, where he spends the day.

Following the manager's report was the physician's report by Dr. Elizabeth A. Follansbee. There was a solo by Mrs. M. J. Hervey and an address by Dr. Eliza J. Beech. Miss Alta Blythe sang a solo, and Rev. A. C. Bane delivered an address, in which he related a number of interesting anecdotes in connection with the work of rescuing fallen girls.

week, beside shooting a fine goat. This was a fair day's work for one sportsman.

Stuart M. Beard caught fifteen yellowtails, five rock bass and one white fish yesterday; aggregate weight, 288 pounds; Harry Elms, boatman. Mr. Beard always fishes with rod and reel. Dr. Lewis made a fine catch of sheepshead yesterday and A. C. Bilicke of the Hollenbeck went home this morning happy in the thought that he had captured enough fish to supply a hotel. Mr. Devendorff, confidential agent of T. D. Stimson, went home this morning, after spending Sunday at the Grand View. He captured a fine yellowtail yesterday.

Edgar Moore, expert accountant, who has recently been straightening out the tangled-up affairs of Kern Company at Bakersfield, is here enjoying camp life with his family. Mr. Moore tells a fish story that somewhat tests one's confidence, but, as he shows the photograph of the catch, it cannot be denied, for pictures don't lie. It occurred three or four years ago when Mr. Moore was spending the summer at Catalina and was in this wise. One day, while pensively trolling along for yellowtails, Mr. Moore hauled up four of these gamy fish on a single line. He says he 'is waiting for some one to beat that record, when he will again try his luck. Mr. Moore's son, Edgar, who has been camping here with his parents, left this morning en route East. He will visit New York and other prominent cities, and also take in the Atlanta Exposition before returning home. Lieut.-Gov. Millard Coming Home An Associated Press dispatch from Lieut.-Gov. The resolutions referred to were read by the clerk as follows:

"The Ministerial Union of Los Angeles in special session Monday, August 26, 1895, desire hereby to express to your honorable body our attitude in the present status of the social evil problem in our city, and especially in its relation to Alameda street. The agitation began because of the prominence of this immorality on this great thoroughfare, and it was begun by the the property-owners, and the churches and the residents and moral people of that section most affected by its existence. This Ministerial Union has at no time designed, in its adoption of this agitation to favor the interests of any political party, or to meddle with the faithful discharge of the duties of any officer, or the lawful exercise of the authority of any body of public officials in this city.

"Third—That, contrary to petitions presented to Council from time to time, and in open disregard to Council's order, this evil has been colonized and driven into this pen.

"Fourth—Those who oppose the position of the Ministerial Union claim that this places these unfortunate people under the protection of the city government and the surveillance of the police.

"Fifth—We find that these helpless women are compelled to pay the exorbitant sum of $60 per month for two small rooms about 7x8 or 8x9 behind the fence, and, instead of being protected, these outcasts are oppressed and abused without mercy.
"Sixth—We find, further, that the concealing of these women, instead of mitigating this evil, has increased it, and made it a school of vice and a hotbed of crime.
"We desire further to call the attention of your honorable body to the attitude of the late Police Comimsisoners toward this evil on Alameda street, that they refused to carry out the order issued by your body, openly declaring that said order was not promulgated by you in good faith.

garbage in the city, the report reading as follows:

"To the honorable City Council—Gentlemen: During the past six months, and especially during the past two months, there have been numerous complaints by the residents of the various portions of the city against the manner in which the garbage is collected. In some portions it does not seem to be collected at all for days at a time, and in other portions not more than once a week, while others complain that it is sometimes taken and at other times left, cans standing on the sidewalk and driver passing by. Many residents complain that there are no hours set apart for the collection of the garbage, and that they put their cans out in the evening, and that they are left standing until the collector come until some time during the next day, and in the meantime they are nextifled by the police officer to take their garbage cans in, or else be liable to arrest. By reference to the agreement between A. Ramish and the city of Los est. By reference to the agreement between A. Ramish and the city of Los Angeles, I find the following: 'Said Ramish shall collect all garbage and ashes which are caused, produced or deposited by domestic use from all houses and buildings in said city used for dwelling or residence purposes, and from all boarding-houses, hotels, restaurants, saloons and markets at the from all boarding-houses, hotels, restaurants, saloons and markets, at the times and in the manner prescribed in the specifications therefor, which specifications are attached hereto and made a part hereof.' "This garbage must be removed at such a time as the Council and Board of Health may, from time to time, determine, in wagons having wroughtiron, or steel, beds, and of a type or model approved by the Council and to be described in this contract. "Ashes and tin cans, when placed in proper receptacles and unmixed with garbage, shall be removed by the contractor without extra charge, and may be used to fill low lands.'

"So far as I can ascertain there have been no hours set apart for the collection of garbage except those established by ordinance No. 2288, new series, section 42, which is as follows: The garbage and ashes, and all garbage and ashes shall be removed from the streets, sidewalks and alleys by such contractor at or before 8 o'clock in the morning; and no garbage, ashes, swill or receptacle for the same shall be placed or allowed to remain on any street, sidewalk or alley after 10 o'clock in the morning

It is possible that the firm referred to in the communication had an inkling of what the Council of Labor proposed to send to the City Council, as the following communication was received by the Council from the firm:

HEALITH OFFICER'S REPORT.

Health Officer Steddom presented a report to the Council with regard to the garbage in the city, the report reading as follows:

"To the honorable City Council—Gentlemen: During the past six two months, there have been numerous complaints by the residents of the various portions of the city against the manner in which the garbage is collected at all for days at lected. "This street was graded in 1888 so as to allow the water to run both ways to Johnston street, now San Benito street; the profile in this office shows said street running through, which in fact does not, but does run to the north line of Second street and no further; consequently there is no way for this water to run off.

CITY ATTORNEY'S REPORT.

The City Attorney's report was rereceived and acted upon as follows:

"In accordance with your directions, I have drafted and herewith present contract and bond with M. I. Ryan for furnishing meat to the city for use in the City Prison. I also return his bid herewith." Contract approved.

"In the matter of the offer of Mr. Hollingsworth for school lots, being lot 7 and the west half of lot 8, block 2, of the Los Angeles Homestead tract for $3500, upon your instructions I have obtained from Mr. Hollingsworth two deeds and certificates of title for the above deeds for lot and portion of lot respectively. Mr. Hollingsworth states to us that he was acting as an agent in this matter and presents a release of all claims as to the purchase money. The certificate of title as to the west half of lot 8 shows the titled vested in Herman Blatz, a single man, free and clear of all incumbrance except taxes for the fiscal year. As to lot 7, the certificate of title shows the title vested in Thomas F. Murphy, free and clear of all incumbrances, except taxes for the fiscal year, and also a bond issued July 13, 1892, upon assessment for the grading of Eighteenth street. The certificate of title also shows that six feet off of the northerly portion of lot 7 have heretofore been conveyed to the city for street purposes. I would advise that before this matter is entirely closed up, provision be made for the payment of the taxes above noted, and for the bond above referred to and which is a lien upon lot 7 as aforesaid, and that before this matter is entirely closed up, provision be made for the payment of the taxes above noted, and for the bond above referred to and which is a lien upon in the other purchases." Adopted. The Council then adjourned to meet Wednesday at 11 o'clock.

Car No. 101 of the University line was going north, and just after passing Third street it collided with the rear end of a milk wagon belonging to Curtis & Sons. One of the wheels was smashed and more or less milk spilled. The sudden start forward which the collision gave the milk wagon caused a horse standing hitched to a light wagon near the curb to back at a rapid pace, with the result that the rear end of that wagon struck the milk wagon and tipped over in such a way as to break the shafts. The horse was thrown down onto the edge of the curb, and a bicycle standing there chanced to be just under where the horse fell. The animal sluck one of its feet through the front wheel of the bicycle, and lay quietly till disentangled. It was found that the bicycle was but little damaged, except for the breaking of two or three spokes. The owner of the wheel gave his name as John E. Young. No one seemed to know the name of the owner of the light wagon.

Rumored New Steamer Line that is Going to Compete with the Pacific Mail.

What the Northern Pacific Earned More Passengers from the Tor-rid East-New Cars for the Traction Road.

CHICAGO, Aug. 26.-George R. Peck admits the correctness of the report that he has resigned as general solic-itor of the Santa Fe system, and will asume a position as general counsel of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway Company September 15. In a personal letter to Mr. Peck, Judge Caldwell pays a handsome tribute to his great ability, efficient work and aid and assistance rendered him ((Judge Caldwell) and receivers. When asked to give his reasons for leaving the Santa Fe Mr. Peck said the inducements offered were such that in justice to him-self and family he could not refuse the position tendered him.

WHY HE LEFT.

TOPEKA (Kan.,) Aug. 26.—Judge Caldwell says that there was no trouble between Mr. Peck and any of the Santa Fe people, but that he had been con-nected with the road so long and was so familiar with its details that every one came to him and made a packhorse out of him. Mr. Peck saw this would break him down. The solicitor of the St. Paul and Milwaukee road died and its president determined to have Mr. Peck, and made him an offer of a salary larger than the Santa Fe could probably ever pay.

HIS SUCCESSOR. ST. LOUIS (Mo.,) Aug. 26.-E. D. Kenna, for years general attorney for the St. Louis and San Francisco Rail-road Company, has been appointed gen-eral solicitor of the Santa Fe system, to succeed George R. Peck. REORGANIZING THE ERIE.

REORGANIZING THE ERIE.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—The Eric reorganization plan has been issued by Messrs. J. P. Morgan & Co., New York, and Messrs. J. S. Morgan & Co., London. The plan contemplates the harmonizing of interests hitherto more or less antagonistic, of the lines composing the Eric system. An arrangement has been made with the New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio railway voting trustees whereby subject to ratification by their beneficiaries, they undertake to foreclose and deliver the New York and Ohio property subject only to the prior lien equipment and leased line securities for which reservation is made. The reorganizers have also practically secured the Chicago and Eric, so that the Eric system will be solidified into one compact organization from New York to Chicago. New securities are to be created on the entire line from New York to Chicago with all branches, coal roads, etc.

NEW STEAMER LINE. SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 26.—The Chronicle says that important negotiations are on foot in this city looking to the formation of a new steamer line to the formation of a new steamer line to touch at Central American ports and connect with the Panama railroad. It is the evident intention to enter into direct competition with the Pacific Mail Company on what has been for years its undisputed ground. Matters have progressed far enough to permit the announcement that three fine passenger and freight steamers, will, in all like-lihood, be upon the run to Panama within two months. Details are guarded most carefully, for the reason that the corporation with which the Panama Railroad Company, desires to form a coalition has at present a peculiar business relationship with the Pacific Mail Company.

A UNION PACIFIC FEEDER ST. PAUL, Aug. 26.—Before Judge Sanborn in the United States Circuit Court there was an application on the part of the Central Trust Company of part of the Central Trust Company of New York for appointment of receivers for the St. Joseph and Grand Island Railroad, one of the feeders of the Union Pacific system.

After hearing arguments on the part of William Strauss of New York in behalf of the petition and J. W. Thurston opposing the appointment on behalf of the Union Pacific receivers, Judge Sanborn made an order appointing the present receivers of the Union Pacific named in the application. The court said that on the showing made in the papers before the court he could not appoint other receivers. The petitioner was, however, allowed to come into court at some subsequent date and ask for the appointment of other receivers. The Central Trust Company is trustee under the first mortgage bonds of $7,000,000 and proceedings in foreclosure are advanced close to the final decree. SCRAP HEAP.

AT FONTAINEBLEAU.

BY STANLEY J. WEYMAN, Author of "A Gentleman of France," "My Lady Roths," etc.

In March, 1610, King Henry went, as usual, to Fontainebleau, where he diverted himself with hunting. It was during this visit that the court credited him with seeing—I think, on the Friday before the Feast of the Virgin the Great Huntsman; and even went the form—that of a gigantic black horseman, surrounded by hounds which it assumed. The specter had not been seen since the year 1598; nevertheless, the story spread widely, those who whispered citing in its support not who whispered citing in its support not only the remarkable agitation into which the Queen fell publicly on the evening of that day, but also some strange particulars that attended the King's return from the forest; and, being taken up and repeated, and confirmed, as many thought, by the unhappy sequence of his death, the fable found a little later elmest universal ing taken up and repeated, and confirmed, as many thought, by the unhappy sequence of his death, the fable found, a little later, almost universal credence, so that it may now be found even in books.

As it happened, however, I was that day at Fontainebleau, and hunted with the King; and, favored both by chance and the confidence with which my master never failed to honor me, am able not only to refute this story, but to narrate the actual facts from which it took its rise. And though there are some, I know, who boast that they had the tale from the King's own mouth, I undertake to prove that they either are romancers who seek to add an inch to their stature, or dull fellows who placed their own interpretation on the hasty words he vouchsafed such chatterers.

As a fact, the King, on that day hasty words he vouchsafed such chatterers.

As a fact, the King, on that day wishing to discuss with me the preparations for the Queen's entry, bade me keep close to him, since he had more inclination for my company than the chase. But the crowd that attended him was so large, the day being fine and warm—and comprised, besides, so many ladies, whose badinage and gaiety he could never forego—that I found him insensibly drawn from me. Far from being displeased, I was glad to see him forget the moodiness which had of late oppressed him; and beyond keeping within sight of him, gave up, for the time, all thought of affairs, and found in the beauty of the spectacle sufficient compensation. The bright dresses and waving feathers of the party showed to the greatest advantage sufficient compensation. The bright dresses and waving feathers of the party showed to the greatest advantage as the long cavalcade wound through the heather and rocks of the valley below the Apremonts; and whether I looked to the front or rear—on the huntsman, with their great horns, or the hounds, straining in the leashes—I was equally charmed with a sight at once joyous and gallant, and one to which the calls of duty had of late made me a stranger.

On a sudden a quarry was started, and the company, galloping off pellmell, with a merry burst of music, were in a moment dispersed, some taking this track, and others that, through the rocks and debris that make that part of the forest difficult. Singling out the King, I kept as near him as possible until the chase led us into the Apremont coverts, where, the trees growing thickly, and the rides cut through them being intricate, I caught sight of him flying down, a ride bordered by dark green box-trees, against which his white hunting coat showed vividly, but now he was alone, and riding in a direction which each moment carried him farther from the line of the chase, and entangled him more deeply in the forest.

Supposing that he had made a bad cast and was in error, I dashed the spurs into my horse, and galloped after him; then, finding that he still held his own, and that I did not overtake him, but that, on the contrary, he was riding at the top of his speed, I called to him: "You are in error, sire, I think!" I cried. "The hounds are the other way!"

He heard, for he raised his hand, and without turning his hand, and think!" I cried. "The hounds are the other way!"

He heard, for he raised his hand, and, without turning his head, made me a sign; but whether of assent or denial, I could not tell. And he still held on his course. Then, for a moment I fancied that his horse had got the better of him, and was running away; but no sooner had the thought occurred to me than I saw that he was spurring it, and exciting it to its utmost speed, so that we reached the end of that ride, and rushed through another and still another, always making, I did not fall to note, for the most retired part of the forest.

We had proceeded in this way about another and still another, always making, I did not fall to note, for the most retired part of the forest.

We had proceeded in this way about a mile, and the sound of the hunt had quite died away behind us, and I was beginning to chafe, as well as marvel, at conduct so singular, when at last I saw that he was slackening his pace. My horse, which was on the point of falling, began, in turn, to overhaul his, while I looked out with sharpened curlosity for the object of pursuit. I could see nothing, however, and no one, and had just satisfied myself that this was one of the droll freaks in which he would sometimes indulge, and that in a second or two he would turn and laugh at my discomfiture, when, on a sudden, with a final pull of the reins, he did turn, and showed me a face flushed with passion and chagrin.

I was so taken a-back that I cried out. "Mon Dleu! sire," I said. "What is it? What is the matter?"

"Matter enough!" he cried, with an oath, and on that, halting his horse, he looked at me as if he would read my heart. "Ventre de Saint Gris," he said, in a voice that made me tremble, "if I were sure that there was no mistake, I would—I would never see your face again!"

I uttered an exclamation.

"Have you not deceived me?" quoth he.
"Oh, sire, I am weary of these sus-

"No, sire!" I said.
"Yet you have told me day by day that Mme. de Conde remained in Brus-that Mme. de Conde remained in Brussels?"

"Certainly!"

"And you still say so?"

"Most certainly!" I answered firmly, beginning to think that his passion had turned his brain. "I had dispatches to that effect this morning."

"Of what date?"

"Three days gone. The courier traveled night and day."

"They may be true, and still she may he here today?" he said, staring at me.

"Impossible, sire!"

"Three days gone. The courier traveled night and day."

"They may be true, and still she may be here today?" he said, staring at me. "Impossible, sire!"

"But, man, I have just seen her!" he cried impatiently.

"Mme. de Conde?"

"Yes, Mme. de Conde, or I am a madman!" Henry answered, speaking a little more moderately. "I saw her galiop out of the patch of rocks at the end of the Dormoir—where the trees begin. She did not heed the line of the hounds, but turned straight down the boxwood ride; and, after that, led as I followed. Did you not see her?"

"No, sire," I said, inexpressibly alarmed—I could take it for nothing but fantasy—"I saw no one."

"And I saw her as clearly as I see you," he answered. "She wore the yellow ostrich feather she wore last year, and rode her favorite chestnut horse—if he white stocking. But I could have sworn to her by her figure alone; and she waved her hand to me."

"But, sire, out of the many ladies riding trday—" there is no lady wearing a yellow feather," he answered passionately." And the horse! And I knew her, man! Besides, she waved to me! And for the others—why should they turn from the hunt and take to the woods?"

I could not answer this, but I looked at him in fear; for, as it was impossible that the Princess de Conde could be here, I saw no alternative but to think him smitten with madness. The extravagance of the passion which he had entertained for her, and the wrath into which the news of her flight with her young husband had thrown him, to say nothing of the depression under which he had since suffered, rendered the idea not so unlikely as it now seems. At any rate, I was driven for a moment to entertain it; and gazed at him in silence, a prey to the most dreadful apprehensions.

We stood in a narrow ride, bordered by evergreens, with which that part of the forest is planted; and, but for the songs of the birds, the stillness would have been absolute. On a sudden the King removed his eyes from me, and, walking his horse a pace or two along the ride, uttered a cry of joy.

He pointed to the ground. "We are right!" he said. "There are her tracks! Come! We will overtake her yet!"

I looked, and saw the fresh prints of a horse's shoes, and felt a great weight roll off my mind, for at least he had seen some one. I no longer hesitated to fall in with his humor, but, riding after him, kept at his elbow until he reached the end of the ride. Here, a vista open the end of the ride. Here, a vista opening right and left, and the ground being hard and free from tracks, we stood at a loss, until the King, whose eyesight was always of the keenest, uttered an exclamation and started from me at a gallop.

I followed more closely, and saw bim dismount and pick up a glove, which, even at that distance, he had discerned lying in the middle of one of the paths. He cried, with a flushed face, that it was Madame de Conde's, and add-d: "It has her perfume—her perfume which no one else uses!"

I confess that this so staggered me that I knew not what to think; but, between sorrow at seeing my master so infatuated and bewilderment at a riddle that grew each moment more perplexing. I sat gaping at Henry like a man without counsel. However, at the moment, he needed none, but, getting to his saddle as quickly as he could, he began again to follow the tracks of the horse's feet, which here were visible, the path running through a beech wood. The branches were still bare, and the shining trunks stood up like pillars, the stand could even see enough to determine that she wore a yellow feather that she wore a yellow feather that was all; for once started, the industries of the ground drew my eyes from he flagure not unlike the Princess. But that was all; for once started, the industries of the ground drew my eyes the thing; and of the speed at which the woman was riding could not again recover it. On the the contrary, it was all I could do to keep up with the King; and of the speed at which the woman was riding could best judge by the fact that in less than, five minutes he, too, pulled up with a gesture of despair and waited for me to come abreast of him.

"You saw her?" he said, his face grim, and with something of suspicion lurking in it.

"You saw her?" he said, his face grim, and with something of suspicion lurking in it.

"Yes, sire." I answered, "I saw a woman, and a woman with a yellow feather; but whether it was the Princess—"

"It was," he said. "If not, why should she flee from us?"

To that again I had not a word to say, and for a moment we rode in silence. Observing, however, that this lence. Observing, however, that this; lente. Observing, however, that this; but he had sunk into a fit of silomy abstraction and rode along with his eyes on the ground. We proceeded thus until the slender path we followed brought us into the great road that leads through the forest to the kennels and the new canal.

Here I asked him if he would not return to the chase, as the day was still young.

"Mon Dieu, no," he answered, passionately. "I have other work to do. Hark ye, M. le Duc, do you still think that she is in Brussels."

"His word is good for every one but "His word is good for every one young.

"Mon Dieu, no," he answered, passionately. "I have other work to do. Hark ye, M. le Duc, do you still think that she is in Brussels?"

"I swear that she was there three days ago, sire."

"And you are not deceiving me? If it be so, God forgive you, for I shall not."

"And you are not deceiving me? If it be so, God forgive you, for I shall not."

"It is no trick of mine, sire," I answered firmly.

"Trick?" he cried, with a flash of his eyes. "A trick, you say? No, ventre de Saint Gris! there is no man in France dare trick me so!"

I did not contradict him, the rather as we were now close to the kennels, and I was anxious to allay his excitement; that it might not be detected by the keen eyes that lay in wait for us, and so add to the gossip to which this early return must give rise. I hoped that at that hour he might enter unperceived, by way of the kennels a dithe little staircase, but in this I was disappainted, the beauty of the day having tempted a number of ladies, and others who had not hunted, to the terrace by the canal; whence, walking up and down, their fans and petticoats fluttering in the sunshine, and their laughter and chatter filling the air, they were able to watch our approach at their leisure.

Unfortunately, Henry had no longer the patience and self-control, needful for such a rencontre. He dismounted with a dark and peevish air, and, hedless of the staring, bowing throng, strode up the steps. Two or three, who stood high in favor, put themselves forward to catch a smile or a word, but he vouchsafed neither. He walked through them with a sour air, and entered the chateau with a precipitation that left all tongues wagging.

To add to the misfortune, something—I forget what—detained me a moment, and that cost me dear. Before I could cross the terrace Concini, the Italian, came up, and, saluting me, said the Queen desired to speak to me.

"The Queen," I said, doubtfully, foreseeing trouble.

"Bhe is waiting at the gate of the farther court," he answered politiely, his keen black eyes reverting, with eager curiosity, to the door by which the King had disappeared.

I could not refuse, and went to her.
"The King has returned early, M. le Duc?" she said.
"Yes, madame," I answered. "He had a fancy to discuss affairs today, and we lost the hounds."

"Together?"

"I had the honor, madame."

"You do not seem to have agreed very well?" she said, smilling.

"Madame," I answered bluntly, "His Majesty has no more faithful servant; but we do not always agree."

She raised her hand, and with a slight gesture bade her ladles stand back, while her face lost its expression of good temper and grew sharp and dark. "Was it about the Conde?" she said in a low, grating voice.

"No, madame," I answered, "it was about certain provisions. The King's ear had been grossly abused, and His Majesty led to believe—""Faugh!" she cried, with a wave of contempt, "that is an old story. I am slok of it. Is she still at Brussels?"

"Still, madame."

"Then see that she stops there," Her Majesty retorted, with a meaning look. And with that she dismissed me, and I went into the chateau. I proposed to rejoin the King; but to my chagrin I found, when I reached the closet, that he had already sent for Varennes, and was shut up with him. I went back to my rooms, therefore, and, after changing my hunting suit and transacting some necessary business, sat down to dinner with Nicholas, the King's secretary, a man fond of the table, whom I often entertained. He kept me in talk until the afternoon was well advanced, and we were still at table when Maignan appeared and told me that the King had sent for me.

"I will go." I said, rising.

"He ils with the Queen, Your Excellency," he continued.

This somewhat surprised me, but I thought no evil; and, finding one of the Queen's Italian pages at the door waiting to conduct me, I followed him across the court that lay between my lodgings and her apartments. Two or three of the King's gentlemen were in the anteroom when I arrived, and Varennes, who was standing by one of the freplaces toying with a hound, made me a face of dismay; he could not speak, owing to the company.

Still this, in a degree, prepared me for the scene in the chamber, where I found the Queen's waiting woman, stood in the background; but more than this I had not time to observe, for, be

"Liar!" she cried, giving way to her fury. "When you were with her this morning! When you saw her! When you stooped to-" certainly. I said. "Besides, madame." I continued, "I have no doubt that the King has given you his word—"

"His word is good for every one but his wife!" she answered bitterly. "And for yours, M. le Duc, I will show you what it is worth. Mademoiselle, cail—"

"Nay, madame!" I said, interrupting her with spirit, "if you are going to call your household to contradict me—"

"But I am not!" she cried in a voice of triumph that, for the moment, disconcerted me. "Mademoiselle, send to M. de Bassomplerre's lodgings, and bid him come to me!"

The King whistled softly, while I, who knew Bassompierre to be devoted to him, and to be, in spite of the levity to which his endless gallantries bore witness, a man of sense and judgment, prepared myself for a serious struggle; judging that we were in the meshes of an intrigue, wherein it was impossible to say whether the Queen figured as actor or dupe. The passion she evinced, as she walked to and fro with clenched hands, or turned now and again to dart a fiery glance at the Cordovan curtain that hid the door, was so natural to her character that I found myself leaning to the latter supposition. Still, in grave doubt what part Bassomplerre was to play, I looked for his coming as anxiously as any one. And probably the King shared this feeling; but he affected indifference, and continued to sit over the fire with an air of mingled scorn and peevishness.

At length Bassomplerre entered, and, seeing the King, advanced with an open brow that persuaded me, at least, of his innocence. Attacked on the instant, however, by the Queen, and taken by surprise, at is were, between two fires—though the King kept silence, and merely shrugged his shoulders—his countenance fell. He was at that time one of the handsomest galiants about the Court, 30 years old and the darling of women, but at this his aplomb failed him, and with it my heart sank also.

"Answer, sir! answer!" the Queen cried. "And without subterfuge! Who was it, sir, whom you saw come from the forest this morning?"

"Madame?"
"In one word!"
"If Your Majesty will—"
"If will permit you to answer," the Queen exclaimed.
"I saw His Majesty return," he falktered—"and M. de Sully."
"Bore them! before them!"
"I may have been mistaken."
"Pooh, map!" the Queen cried with biting contempt. "You have told it to half a dozen. Discretion comes a little late."

"Well, if you will, madame," he said, "Well, if you will, madame," he said, striving to assert himself, but cutting a poor figure, "I fancied that I saw Madame de Conde—"

But the Queen cared no more for-him. She turned, looking superb in her wrath., to the King. "Now, sir!" she said. "Am I to bear this?"

"Sweet!" the King said, governing his temper in a way that surprised me, "hear reason, and you shall have it in a word. How near was Bassompierre to the lady he saw?"

"I was not within fifty paces of her!" the favorite cried eagerly.

"But others saw her!" the Queen rejoined sharply. "Mme. Paleotti, who was with the gentleman, saw her also, and knew her."

"At a distance of fifty paces?" the King said dryly. "I don't attach much weight to that." And then, risjing, with a slight yawn. "Madame," he continued, with the air of command, which he knew so well how to assume, "for the present, I am tired. If Mme. de Conde is here, it will not be difficult to get further evidence of her presence. If she is at Brussels, that fact, too, you can ascertain. Do the one or the other, as you please; but, for today, I beg that you will excuse me."

"And that," the Queen cried shrilly—that is to be—" outside this room. Grandmaster, I will trouble you."

And with these words, uttered in a voice and with an air that silenced even the angry woman before us, he signed to me to follow him, and went from the room; the first glance of his eye stilling the crowded ante-chamber, as if the shadow of death passed with him. I followed him to his closet; but, until he reached it, had no inkling of what was in his thoughts. Then he turned to me.

"Where is she?" he said sharply.

I stared at him a moment. "Pardon, sire!" I said. "Do you think that it was Mme, de Conde?"

"She is in Brussels."

was Mme, de Conde?"
"Why not?"
"She is in Brussels."
"I tell you I saw her this morning," he answered. "Go, learn all you can.
Find her! Find her! If she has returned, I will—God knows what I will do!" he cried, in a voice shamefully broken. "Go, and send Varennes to me. I shall sup alone; let no one wait."
I would have remonstrated with him, but he was in no mood to bear it; and, sad at heart. I withdrew, feeling the perplexity which the situation caused me, a less heavy burden than the pain with which I viewed the change that had of late come over my master; conventing him from the gayest and most debonnair of men into this morose and solitary dreamer. Here, had I felt any temptation to moralize on the tyranny of passion, was the occasion; but, as the farther I left the closet behind me the more instant became the crisis, the present soon reasserted its power. Reflecting that Henry in this state. the more instant became the crisis, the present soon reasserted its power. Reflecting that Henry, in this state of uncertainty, was capable of the wildest acts, and that not less was to be feared from his imprudence than from the Queen's resentment, I cudgelled my brains to explain the recontre of the morning; but as the courier whom I questioned confirmed the report of my agents, and asseverated most confidently that he had left madame in Brussels, I was flung back on the alternative of an accidental resemblance.

humor, set up absurd claims to it, but none could describe the ring, and in the end he handed it to the Queen. As he did so his eyes met mine and challenged my attention. I was prepared, therefore, for the cry of surprise which broke from the Queen.

"Why, this is Caterina's!" she cried.

"Where is the child?"

Some one pushed forward Mile. Paleotti, sister-in-law to Mme. Paleotti, the Queen's first chamber-woman. She was barely out of her teens, and, ordinarily, was a pretty girl, but the moment I saw her dead-white face, framed in a circle of fluttering fans and pitliess, sparkling eyes, I discerned tragedy in the farce, and that M. de Bassomplerre was acting in a drama to which only he and one other held the key. The contrast between the girl's blanched face and the beauty and giltter in the midst of which she stood struck others, so that, before another word was said I caught the gasp of surprise that passed through the room; not was I the only one who drew nearer.

"Why, girl," the Queen said, "this is the ring I gave you on my birthday! When did you lose it? And why have you made a secret of it?"

Mademoiselle stood speechless, but madame, her sister-in-law, answered for her. "Doubtless she was afraid that Your Majesty would think her careless," she answered.

"I'dld not ask you!" the Queen re-careless," she answered.

"I did not ask you!" the Queen rejoined.

She spoke harshly and suspiciously, looking from the ring to the trembling girl. The silence was such that the chatter of the pages in the ante-room could be heard. Still, mademoiselle stood dumb and confounded.

"Well, what is the mystery?" the Queen said, looking round with a little wonder. "What is the matter? It is the ring. Why do you not own it?"

"Perhaps mademoiselle is wondering where are the other things she left with it!" Bassompierre said in a silky tone. "The things she left at Parlot, the verderer's, when she dropped the ring. But she may free her mind; I have them here."

"What do you mean?" the Queen said. "What things, monsieur? What has the girl been doing?"

"Only what many have done before her," Bassomplerre answered, bowing to his unfortunate victim, who seemed to be paralyzed by terror. "Masquerading" in other people's clothes. I propose, "madame, that, for punishment, you 'order her to dress in them, that we may see what her taste is."

"I do not understand," the Queen said.

"Your Majesty will, if Mademoiselle Paleotti will consent to humor us."

"Your Majesty will, if Mademoiselle "Your Majesty will, if Mademoiselle Paleotti will consent to humor us." At that the girl uttered a cry, and looked round the circle as if for a way of escape; but a court is a cruel place, in which the ugly or helpless find scant pity. A dozen voices begged the Queen to insist; and, amid laughter and loud jests, Bassompierre hastened to the door, and returned with an armful of women's gear, surmounted by a wig and women's gear, surmounted by a wig and something that will please her."

"Go!" said the Queen.
But the girl at that flung herself on her knees beforeher, and clinging to her skirts, burst into a flood of tears and prayers; while her sister-in-law stepped forward as if to second her, and cried out, in great excitement, that her Majesty would not be so cruel as to—"Holty, toity!" said the Queen, cutting her short very grimly. "What is all this? I tell the girl to put on a masquerade—which it seems that she has been keeping at some cottage—and you talk as if I were cutting off her head! It seems to me that she escapes very lightly. Go! go! and see, you, that you are arrayed in five minutes, or I will deal with you!"

"Perhaps, Mile. de La Force will go with her, and see that nothing is omitted," Bassompierre said with malice.

The report of the Building Committee was presented to the board, the report reading as follows:

"The contract for painting the Eighth-street school was awarded to J. G. Snyder, for the sum of $89. The bids for moving Griffin-avenue school building being greater than anticipated, are hereby referred to your honorable body for action. The secretary has advertised for bids for the sale of the old buildings at sites recently purchased, one at Griffin avenue and one at Cambria street, which are to be opened on the 2d of September, and we recommend that you hold a special meeting on that date, at 10 o'clock a.m., for the purpose of opening these bids and awarding the same." The report was adopted.

A petition was received by the board from W. H. Perry and others asking that the site for a school building in the Third Ward situated between Fifth and Sixth streets, extending from Pearl street to Fremont avenue and known as the Childs property, be recommended by the Board of Education to the Council. After some discussion of this petition, the report of the Building Committee on a school site in this ward was read and adopted by the board. The report recommends the acceptance of a site on the west side of Olive street between Fourth and Fifth streets, known as lot 7, block 107, Bellevue Terrace tract and lot 1, block N, Mott tract, offered for $12,000.

In connection with the selection of sites by the board, the remarks of a certain Councilman anent the dilatory action of the board in selecting sites were commented upon by Dr. Wills and Director Fulton, who submitted the following resolution which, however, was not adopted by the board.

"Inasmuch as the City Council assumed the responsibility of selecting the sites for the new school buildings, and has been very tardy in doing so in certain wards, therefore it is with heartfelt gratitude that we appreciate the action of the Council in advertising to the public that we do not possess the requisite amount of backbone to go ahead and do what they would not let us dd,"

The report was adopted after some facetious questions from Dr. Wills with regard to the eligibility of some of the teachers recommended. The following players constituted the Francis Wilson team: Tyler, Neath and Hart, pitchers; Chapman and Early, catchers; Guercio, first base; Burke, second base; E. M. LOVE'S YOUNG DREAM.

HONEYMOON BROUGHT TO AN AB-

Arrested for Disturbing the Peace — Her Anger Tempered with Hugs and Kisses.

The honeymoon of Fred Sessions and his pretty, little wife, Mary Ann Sessions, came to a sensational and abrupt close yesterday. The couple were mar-ried only about a month ago and went to housekeeping at No. 619 West Sixth street. They appeared very much de-voted to each other, and their friends and neighbors almost envied their apparent happiness.

A storm came on, however, and yes-

Attorney's office and informed that functionary that her husband swore at her and had threatened to kill her. She, therefore, determined to do a little swearing on her own account, but her oath was strictly of a legal nature, not of the profane variety like the oaths of her husband. Mrs. Sessions swore to a complaint, charging her husband with disturbing her peace with his tumultuous, conduct, which consisted of cursing, swearing and threatening to cut her throat.

A warrant was duly issued and placed in the hands of Pollee Officer Richardson for service. The officer went to the Sessions' abode about 6 o'clock yesterday evening, and was greatly surprised at seeing Mary Ann sitting in Frederick's lap, hugging and kissing him, as though he was the dearest and best husband in the world, instead of the ungallant spouse described in the complaint she had sworn to only an hour before. The stern "cop" interrupted the billing and cooing that was going on when he arrived, by saying:

"Mr. Sessions, I have a warrant for your arrest."

"A warrant for my arrest!" ex-ment. "Surely there must be some mistake."

"I guess not," said the officer. "Fred Sessions is the man named in this warrant, and you answer the description."

"Who could have sworn out a warrant for me?" asked Sessions.

"Your wife. Mary Ann Sessions."

"Yes, I did," chimed in Mary Ann, "and I am going to prosecute you, too, for treating me so badly."

When the young husband realized that it was no joke, he begged and pleaded with his wife to relent, and not humiliate him by having him arrested; but Mrs. Sessions was obdurate.

not humiliate him by having him arrested; but Mrs. Sessions was obdurate.

"We'll divide our possessions," she said. "You can take what you bought, and I'll take what belongs to me, for I'll never live with you again after the way you have treated me."

While the conversation was going on, Fred and Mary appeared to be just as fond of each other as ever. She accompanied him and the officer to the police station, and they made love to each other all the way. When she left him, just before he was locked up, she put her arms around his neck and kissed him, but she went away vowing she would prosecute him and never live with him again.

Sessions spent the night in the City Jall.

City Electrician Francis stated yesterday that, without doubt, the false fire alarms which came in Sunday night, were caused by swinging contact with some electric-light wire. It was with some electric-light wire. It was a singular thing that the accidental taps on the City Hall bell should come in as if they were counting the number on some box, but that appeared to be the case. After the taps came in the fuses on the same circuit which delivered them were burned out, which made it appear beyond reasonable doubt that the mischief was worked by contact with an electric-light wire and not by some maliciously-disposed person. Linemen were sent over the route of that circuit yesterday to discover, if possible, where the contact was.

A Watermelon Eat.

The retail clerks of Los Angeles will feast tonight on the juicy watermelon feast tonight on the juicy watermelon and the fragrant cantaloupe. A. Z. Taft, one of their number, has generously promised to bring a plentiful supply of melons from his Cahuenga ranch. The clerks will assemble at the Retail Clerks' Protective Association Hall, No. 107½ North Main struet, and, after the rendition of a literary and musical programme, will fall upon the melons and utterly demolish them. Then will come dancing. Messrs. Fred U. Wilson, Frank E. Beahn and Charles W. Foster, are in charge of the arrangements. All the retail clerks in the city, of both sexes, will be welcomed.

Our Fame Abroad.

The manner in which news is sometimes magnified as it travels from where the event occurs, is shown in a clipping from a recent issue of the Abingdon (Va.) Weekly Virginian, which clipping was handed to a Times reporter yesterday. It is as follows: "One of the deepest wells in the city of Los Angeles, Cal., at the corner of Hobart and West State streets, has suddenly started gushing oil at such a rate that it cannot be kept under control. It has overrun the neighborhood and is still flowing. The output is estimated by experts to be about eight hundred barrels a day."

When interviewed at the time of a recent purchase, Mr. Johns said: "Ever since I was in the army, where I contracted indigestion and dyspepsia from eating 'hard tack and sow belly,' I have suffered much from those and kindred ailments. A son of mine who clerks for J. N. Harter in a drug store at Winfield, Kan., told me while home on a visit, over a year ago, to get a box of Ripans Tabules and take them. I did, and in a very short time I was benefited, and by the time they were half gone I was well, and since then I have felf they were half gone I was well, and since then I have felt and since then I have felt better, ate more and relished it better than at any time since the war, and am doing more work now than I ever expected to do again. Short Session of the Council-Go-ing East for Brides - Clifton Reel's Foot Amputated-Looks Bad for Smith-Personals.

PASADENA, Aug. 26.—(Regular Correspondence.) The City Council held this afternoon the shortest session so far this summer, and the business transacted was wholly of a routine character. Trustee Weeds and Washburn, and President Cox were in their places. Messrs Lukens and Hamilton were absent. Petitions from F. E. Wood, representing Mrs. E. V. Wood and R. L. Whittemore, administratrix of George F. Foster, relative to the improvement of the newly-opened section of Cekland avenue, were resident. tion of Oakland avenue, were received, as were similar petitions from Alvin Gibbs and John W. Vandervoort. Some discussion anent these requests result-ed in their filing for future consideration. Attorney Arthur suggested that before the street was opened, the property-owners had deposited a written agreement to improve the whole street, and it seemed manifestly unwise to permit private parties to improve their portion of the street separately, as niformity was necessary. H. H.

uniformity was necessary. H. H. Rose appeared, to urge the passage of the ordinance referring to street signs, but nothing decisive was done in the matter, the Trustees evidently taking the view that the subject should be looked into more closely. A petition from seventy-one citizens, regarding signals to be used on bicycles, was filed. It was said by Attorney Arthur nreference to the matter, that he had written the authorities in other cities where such an ordinance had been tried, and it did not work at all. He said the Council made an investigation into bloycle signals more than a year ago, and came to the conclusion that it was best to drop the subject.

GONE EAST TO WED.

GONE EAST TO WED.

S. F. Bangham, one of the well-known citizens of Pasadena, who lives on South Los Robles avenue, has been counting the days lately, and as August has waned his countenance has visibly brightened as its latter days have been checked off, he has gone about enveloped in such a perceptible halo of satisfaction that his friends at last became suspicious that he was contemplating matrimony. Today he bought a ticket for lowa, and Tuesday morning will start on a journey East, and when he comes home again he will be accompanied by a bride. Mr. Bangham is no longer young, having seen at least sixty summers, but what does youth count in such cases, for Cupid is perpetually a roguish lad, and Mr. Bangham says can make his nest in an old heart as well as a young one. The lady is a maiden by the name of Jones, approximating Mr. Bangham in years, and is well known in Pasadena, where Mr. Bangham became acquainted with her when she made a visit here recently. Another old citizen, Dr. Dugger has succumbed to the charm of the feminine Easterner, and has gone toward the land of the rising sun for a bride. GONE EAST TO WED.

CLIFTON REEL'S CONDITION. CLIFTON REEL'S CONDITION.
Clifton Reel, who was injured Sunday in a hunting accident, is resting comfortably today. His ankle was found to be so badly shattered that there was no hope of saving it, the gun wads and the shot being found imbedded in the tissue of the bone. His leg was accordingly amputated five inches above the ankle bone by Dr. Hodge, assisted by Drs. Turner and Prittle, this morning at 2 o'clock. He was brought to Pasadena by carriage Sunday night, and when he reached the hospital was found to be in a very precarious condition from the pain and exhaustion consequent upon the trip. The accident is a distressing one, from the fact dent is a distressing one, from the fact that the young man's parents are poor, and have had a hard struggle to get along. Maimed as he is his chances for gaining a livelihood are greatly dimin-ished. PASADENA BREVITIES.

The felony charge, under which Smith has been committed to jail, in default of $1000 bonds, will be heard Thursday morning at 10 o'clock.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT.

Beginning of Good Sport at Santa Monica.

SANTA MONICA, Aug. 28.—(Regular Correspondence.) The devotees of ten-nis lined up at the Casino courts here this morning and, on count of players when drawing began for the prelimi-naries in the association singles, it was found that no byes were to be had, there being just sixteen men good and true ready and anxious to contest in the event. Thereupon the score was al-

the event. Thereupon the score was allotted as follows:

Welcome and Bumiller, Brooks and Way, Cosby and P. Arnold, Dresslar and D. Arnold, Frank Carter and Kenneth Carter, Daggett and Pedley, Waring and Freeman and Rowan and Picher.

Picher.

Welcome and Bumiller indulged the first warm-up, and the latter won at a canter, 6-1, 6-3. Then Waring succumbed to Freeman by 6-1, 6-4, and Picher beat Rowan, 6-4, 7-5. P. Arnold beat Cosby, 6-1, 6-1. The play began just before noon, but was of indifferent interest until later in the day, when the players got warmed up to their work and two courts were occupied. The afternoon saw a number of visitors, and enthuslasm began to manifest itself over clever plays, but the full benches which will be a spur to the performers later in the week, await the finish of the preliminaries.

The further games of today's play were: Way beat Brooks, 6-1, 6-4; D. Arnold beat Dressler, 7-5, 6-8, 6-3; K. Carter defaulted to F. Carter; John Daggett beat W. E. Pedley, 2-6, 8-6, 6-4; L. Freeman beat G. L. Waring, 6-2, 6-4; O. S. Picher beat R. A. Rowan, 6-4, 7-5; in the semi-finals, Freeman beat Picher, 0-6, 6-3, 6-2.

in the semi-finals, Freeman beat Picher, 0-6, 6-3, 6-2.

The events of this year's play will differ from those of a year ago only in the combination of association and all-comers' singles, These will be played in a single event as association singles.

Frank Carter has arrived from London for his usual recreation on the courts here and will play with his brother Kenneth in the doubles. The two will contest against each other in the preliminaries of the singles.

Up to late this afternoon the array of talent here entered for the various events included D. E. Welcome, A. Bumiller, L. C. Brooks, A. C. Way, D. N. P. Arnold, F. B. Dresslar, Mrs. J. W. Hendricks and Mrs. Chotteau, Los Angeles; Frank Carter, London; Kenneth Carter, Duarte; W. E. Pedley, South Riverside; G. L. Waring, Marian and Alice Jones, Santa Monica, and O. S. Picher, R. A. Rowan, L. Freeman and Miss Schumacher, Pasadena.

There are a number of new figures on the courts this year—new players, and some of them promising ones. John Daggett of Pasadena is among these. He is young, but accurate and active, F. B. Dresslar, Los Angeles, is another who is playing his first tournament games. His opening play was rather more effective at times than the state of the promise of the state of th

The coming of Mr. Raymond is hailed with much gratification by all Santa Barbarenes, for they well know that it will be a great advertisement for this section. The hotels of the city anticipate a lively hotel trade this winter and all are making extended arrangements in consequence.

The streets of Santa Barbara have been brightened today by the many children en route to school, this being the beginning of the school year. They were all dressed in their best bib and tucker, and appeared as happy as if they were about to begin their vacation. The school buildings were all crowded long before the hour. The school authorities appreciate the fact that Santa Barbara is in need of more school room.

The teachers' Institute at Santa Maria are delighted with their trip, and all feel that the meeting has been of material benefit.

Santa Fe Train Plows Through Flock of Sheep — An Evening Musicale — Capt. Landell Files His Bond—News Notes.

SANTA ANA, Aug. 26.—(Regular Corespondence.) Clyde Taylor, the 16-ear-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Taylor of Santa Ana, is now quite conspicuous by his absence. The boy was committed to the reform school at Whittler several weeks ago but was Whitter several weeks ago but was retained here for a time until room could be made for him in the State reformatory. The parents agreed to keep the boy at home and to produce him when the court desired, so his honor permitted him to remain at home instead of being confined in jail. Today (Monday) the court ordered him taken to Whittier and Deputy Sheriff Ulm was to leave with him on the noon train. A few minutes before it was time to go to the train the father of the boy came rushing into the Sheriff's office with the information that the boy had run away. He said he was around the house all forenoon until just a few minutes before it was time to go down to the Sheriff's office.

The boy is an incorrigible and already has complaints against him that would probably land him in the State's prison if they were pushed.

Up to the time this report closed his whereabouts were unknown to his parents or the officers.

A SLAUGHTER OF SHEEP. Sunday evening's north-bound pas-senger train on the Santa Fe road, senger train on the Santa Fe road, from San Diego, ran into a big band of sheep down on the San Joaquin ranch, and slaughtered about a score of them. The big engine looked as if it might have been going forty miles an hour when it struck the scampering band, for there were bits of sheep and et cetera from the smokestack to the tender. No further damage than the killing of the sheep was done, the passengers feeling only a slight jar when the accident happened.

SAN DIEGO COUNTY.

Talking About the Flume Company-

News Notes.

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 26.—(Regular Correspondence.) The chief topic of conversation here continues to be about the published attacks on the Flume Company in the organ of the Mt. Tecarte Company. These attacks are hurtful to San Diego, because they convey the impression abroad that this city is not well supplied with water, whereas, as a matter of fact, this city. convey the impression abroad that this city is not well supplied with water, whereas, as a matter of fact, this city has a bountiful supply of pure water. The Mt. Tecarte organ states that the La Mesa dam, recently built by the Flume Company, is leaky and likely to go out, if the reservoir is filled with water. When that dam was building Col. J. W. Barlow of the United States engineers examined it and told the Times correspondent that if was so strong and well built that water could flow over the face of the dam for some time without affecting its strength. While the people have no particular love for the Flume Company, they are opposed to the publication of untrue statements about the present water system. These statements are printed in Kansas and other papers as arguments why people should not sattle in this country, consequently the untrulns retard the settlement of lands. The motive for the disparagement of San Diego's present water supply is for the purpose of influencing the Council to accept the Mt. Tecarte bid for furnishing a water system, when the bids are opened on September 2.

Considerable surprise is manifested here that Dr. and Mrs. J. C. RIVERSIDE, Aug. 26 .- (Regular Correspondence.) Riversiders at Straw-berry Valley report that the patrons of that delightful mountain resort are on the tip-toe of expectation over a grand free barbacue arranged to take place there next Saturday, the 31st inst. The Programme as now outlined consists of the eating of an ox roasted whole, the work of devouring commencing at 2 o'clock p.m. to be served out of doors, with sufficient other whole sports, consisting principally of feats of horsemanship, such as picking up canes and ropes from the ground by riders of running horses, bronco-riding, lariat-throwing, horse racing, Indian war dance by the Indians of Cahuilla village, and other oowboy and Indian sports. The San Jacinto Band has been secured to furnish music for the afternoon sports and for the dance in the evening. The dance will take place at the Idylewild Pavilion. There need be no further guarantee of the success of the day than the mention that the Thomas brothers of the "Charley" Thomas ranch have been given full charge of the outdoor sports, with power to furnish anything they approve. Their reputation as experienced horsemen, panopiled with all the cowboy trappings, justifies the belief that this will will be a feature of the day both novel and unique. The entire entertainment from start to finish will be free.

Lewis R. Kirby, deputy district attorney of San Diego county, and a young lawyer of no mean ability, was in the city Saturday afternoon obtaining data relative to the claim of his county against Riverside county for back railroad taxes. It is the evident intention of our neighbors to push the collection of this claim, little as is their chance to get it. These are the back taxes of 1886-87 on the Southern Pacific Railroad. The two counties have passed receipts squaring up all their accounts, and it certainly will be difficult to go behind the returns. But the end of a lawsuit will tell.

POMONA.

POMONA, Aug. 26.—(Regular Correspondence.) The outlook for improved business all around in Pomona and this valley from present indications is good. Although but few real estate sales have been made during the past week or ten days, they have been "bona fide" transactions, and at reasonably fair prices for both buyer and seller. The latest reported is the thirteen and one-half-acre orange ranch of George W. Ogle in the upper part of Pomona to Collins A. Ludlow for $8000. This sale taken in connection with a few others recently reported in these columns show a somewhat better activity than has been ruling during the greater portion of the season.

Then comes the information from reliable fruit-growers of this vicinity that buyers are already in the field for the next orange crop, and while no contracts have as yet been actually made-they are quietly feeling around at an intimated $1.50 to $1.60 per box offer. This fact, in conjunction with the certainty that Florida will furnish nominally no crop, is somewhat encouraging in its tendency. Then, again, the certainty that Florida will furnish nominally no crop, is somewhat encouraging in its tendency. Then, again, notwithstanding it was thought that upon the approach of the rainy season there would be a "let-up" in residence building, there seems to be as many, if not more, new cottages and dwellings being erected than earlier in the summer. The general and heavy exodus to summer resorts from this valley also adds to the proof of nearing better times.

It isn't much trouble for a really healthy man to be good humored. Jollity and exhuberant health are a proverbial combination. The hearty man who is always laughing doesn't have any trouble with his digestion, It has been said that laughing makes people healthy. The truth is that health makes people laugh.

There isn't any other thing so essential to health as regularity in the action of the bowels. Most all sickness starts with some derangement of the digestive functions. Good digestion means good, pure blood, and that means strength. Once let the bowels become clogged with refuse matter, and the whole system is deranged. Impure, poisonous matter gets into the blood and plants the seeds for all sorts of sickness.

Whenever there is a stoppage of the intestinal action, help should be given immediately. Usually a mild, gentle laxative is all that is necessary. A violent, wrenching, griping cathartic is never needed. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the most pleasant and successful remedy for occasional or chronic constipation, or costiveness. They are tiny, sugar-coated anti-bilious granules that even the smallest child can easily take. They act in perfect accord with nature and produce no griping or other disagreeable feeling. They should be taken at the first indication of digestive trouble. They stop sour stomach, belching, "heart-burn," flatulence and sick heads ache. They cure constipation permanently. You can stop taking them after the bowels are thoroughly regulated. Their help lasts. You do not become a slave to their use as with other pilla.

Mrs. Louis Mesmer, the drowned boy's stepgrandmother, a lady friend, proprietor of the Centinela ranch, Clar 12 years of age, son of Louis Mesmer's foreman at Ballona, tried to cross the channel which connects Ballona Har-bor with the ocean in a row boat Sun-day afternoon. It was high tide and the current was very strong. Mr. Freeman the only man in the party, was at the oars, and although an expert oarsman was unable to manage the boat, so rough was the water. was unable to manage the boat, so rough was the water. When about the middle of the treacherous channel a large wave struck the craft broadside and it capsized.

When the occupants of the boat found themselves in the water, all but young Mesmer managed to cling to the bottom of the upturned vessel. Clarence, who was a good swimmer for a boy of his years, swam to one of the piles of the wharf, near by. Mr. Freeman and the French boy, with much difficulty, succeeded in getting the ladies to land. Then they directed their attention to Clarence who was clinging to the pile and shouting for help. An old French fisherman, attracted by the cries, also came to the rescue and nearly lost his life in an attempt to reach the boy. The surf was running high and the breakers repeatedly engulfed the boy. The pile was full of barnacles and as the great waves broke over the lad he must have been frightfully cut by being pounded against the sharp shells. Still, like the young hero he was, he held on for dear life. Finally a wave greater than any that had preceded it broke over him. When the seething waters subsided, the boy was no longer in view. Exhausted by the effort to hold on the pile till aid could reach him, he could not withstand the shock of the billow. The probabilities are that he was stunned by having his head pounded against the pier and that he was unconscious when the giant wave swept him to a watery grave.

The distracted father of the unfortunate lad reached Ballona Sunday night. All day yesterday watchers patrolled the shore for several miles on either side of the harbor, looking in vain for the sea to give up its dead. Coroner Campbell was on hand to hold an inquest in case the body was recovered, but at this writing the body of the boy is still being buffeted by the waves.

The programme opened with the much-advertised pen act, in which Gleason entered a wooden corral in which was a timid, but apparently gentle horse, and persuaded the animal to follow him wherever he led. D. F. Donegans' magnificent stallion Kirkby delighted the audience by performing several tricks which had been taught him by U. S. Beaver, the first assistant. Other horses of varying degrees of contrariness were started in the way they should go. The programme concluded with a lecture on horseshoeing, copiously illustrated by anatomical models of horses' feet. The majority of the people connected with the show will start for Denver this morning, but Prof. Gleason will remain for a few days to finish his legal battle with Belt, whose horse is still unsubdued.
